

Sea as Space for Living and Struggling of the Indonesian Nation for Indonesian Archipelago Glory

Monday, December 14, 2009, Lemhannas RI Governor Prof. DR. Muladi, SH, acted as the Inspector of Ceremony in the Commemoration of Indonesian Archipelago Day in Lemhannas RI with theme “Sea as Space for Living and Struggling of the Indonesian Nation for Indonesian Glory”. By the President Decree No. 126 of 2001 regarding Indonesian Archipelago Day, it was stipulated that December 13 is the National Day despite not a holiday.

The Minister of Marine Affairs and Fisheries of the Republic of Indonesia in his remarks read by the Lemhannas RI Governor stated that Indonesian Archipelago Day should be inaugurated by a Flag Ceremony, in all agencies both central and regional. It is intended to remind that we are the maritime and Archipelagic Country. It is not easy but requiring long struggle to admit that we are an Archipelagic Country. The history has recorded that on December 13, 1957, the Indonesian Government at the time the President was Soekarno bravely declared to the international world about the sovereignty of the Republic Indonesia covering territorial sea (hinterland area) forming integral part of in-land area.

Moreover, he said that, unless there was “Djoeanda Declaration” publicized on December 13, 1957, the Indonesian sea territory was only around the islands, namely three miles from the coast. It means, among the Indonesian islands, there are International seas that are free for anyone to voyage to them. Our islands are separated from each other. Actually sea is our way. This condition will endanger the nation sovereignty, unity and integrity.

The Djoeanda Declaration has stirred the International world up and consequently they did not directly accept it. Several countries opposing it were the United States of America and Australia constituting the continental Country.

But by the preserving struggle and long and tough diplomacy, finally the conception of Indonesian Archipelago was accepted and stipulated in the United Nation Convention on Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) 1982.

By the acceptance of Archipelago Country sea territory principles, the Indonesian sea territory increased and its glory was also much better. But the more important thing is Indonesian territory is whole and intact, not separated. Through this theme we construe that Indonesian seas can be used as the nation economic main pillar. Therefore at the end of his remarks, the Minister asked all Indonesian people to have forward looking, an era at which there is ample opportunity for us to materialize a great idea, namely a strong, dignified, advanced and independent country in marine sector.

ORIENTATION BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA FOR THE ALUMNI OF SHORT TRAINING PROGRAM BATCH (PPSA) XVI AND PARTICIPANTS OF REGULAR TRAINING PROGRAM BATCH (PPRA) XLIII LEMHANNAS RI OF 2009

The President of the Republic of Indonesia Dr. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono addressed his remarks in the orientation for PPSA XVI and PPRA XLIII in the State Palace on December 7, 2009.

The President of the Republic of Indonesia Dr. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono addressed his remarks in the orientation for PPSA XVI and PPRA XLIII in the State Palace on December 7, 2009.

In his remarks he stated that in the Fiscal Year of 2009 Lemhannas RI had successfully organized 2 trainings namely Short Training Program Batch (PPSA) XVI for five and a half months and Regular Training Program Batch (PPRA) XLIII for nine and a half months, and respectively has organized a seminar as a peak of the training activity. PPSA XVI organized a seminar with title "Building Indonesian Corruption Prevention and Sanction Imposition Index to Materialize Good Governance for the National Development". And PPRA XLIII organized the training with title "Strengthening of Policy on Energy to Support the National Economic for the National Resilience".

To this end, the President of the Republic of Indonesia addressed his appreciation and gratitude to the Lemhannas RI Governor and his staffs for their good task implementation, and congratulation to all participants of PPSA XVI and PPRA XLIII TA 2009 who had accomplished the training program.

He stated that relating to the corruption, the corruption eradication has been carried out but not yet optimum due to failure to implement firm law enforcement system by the relevant officials. Consequently, the State endeavors to adopt many methods, supervision and policies but they are not sufficient to bring Indonesia to become the State free from Corruption. Therefore, the existence of active participation of all parties individually and representativeness directly and indirectly through the legitimated intermediation institution is key for the Good Governance. In this respect, there should be independent law enforcer and police free from politic interest and KKN (Corruption, Collusion and Nepotism).

The other important matter being the international attention to maintain the survival is energy management. The energy resources are one of significant factors for the successful national economic development and strengthening the national resilience. The limited energy resources now and in the future will become a constraint that may inhibit the Indonesian economic growth rate. The national energy resilience is a condition where the public's need for energy is able to be fulfilled continuously based on the availability, affordability and acceptability (quality and price) principles. To this end, there should be support for development of alternative energy, energy conservation culture, and secured access or concordance between the energy resources and consumers' distribution as well as national capability growth in supplying energy to secure the national energy resilience for national resilience. In addition,

Delivery of Text Book as the result of PPRA XLIII Seminar with theme "Strengthening of Policy on Energy to Support the National Economic for the National Resilience" by Lemhannas RI Governor Prof. DR. Muladi, SH to the President of the Republic of Indonesia DR. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono the greatest threat in materializing energy resilience is volatile and continuous increase in price of oil and gas based energy (biofuel) thereby requiring subsidy from the government to secure its availability, affordability and acceptability. At the end of his remarks, the President of the Republic of Indonesia DR. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono addressed, "As the national level management, you are demanded to actively take part in overcoming the corruption eradication problem and able to overcome the energy crisis and I hope that the knowledge as well as insight gained during the training is able to be applied in the task in your respective field". On those occasion, the President of Republic of Indonesia also needs that Lemhannas RI in 2010 could organize a seminar about Economic condition of Indonesia after global economic crisis.

NATIONAL CONGRESS II OF LEMHANNAS RI ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Lemhannas Alumni Association (IKAL) is an informal organization and part of Lemhannas RI, with non structural and independent status, in which Lemhannas RI Governor in IKAL management is as elder member.

IKAL in its dedication and work program always gives positive contribution in increasing the quality, image and reputation of its organization namely Lemhannas RI. Moreover, currently the existence of IKAL more develops since starting from 2009 and so forth, it gives opportunity to the participants of training program from several neighbor countries.

The 2nd national congress of IKAL organized on December 12, 2009 with theme "Re-Building the Nation Character" is a forum to evaluate the implementation of IKAL Work Program in 2005-2009, revise the Articles of Association and By-Law of IKAL, and then formulate IKAL Work Program of 2010-2014 as well as elect the Chief Executive of IKAL together with the new management composition of IKAL. In addition, such chance was used by the alumni to make closer relation.

The national congress also scrutinized the recent condition in line with the decrease in the nation insight understanding, eroded nation unity and integrity spirit that of course will affect the growth of the nationalism spirit, and consequently there will be very crucial difficulty in reviving the spirit and commitment of this nation to work hard and build our beloved country.

According to the theme of National Congress 2nd of IKAL, it is the right time to formulate the strategic policy to re-strengthen the togetherness, cohesiveness and solidity bond, national unity and integrity, above the Bhineka Tunggal Ika (One in Diversity

Keep on developing the attitude and culture of thinking as well as acting positively in all communities, nation and state's life aspect as well as always have visionary thinking, gain the better future, oriented to the universal value mission, to face the liberty, independency challenge and human rights for the safety of the Nation and State of the Republic of Indonesia, toward independency and harmony with the other advanced nations.

Existence of IKAL and Lemhannas RI is inseparable and providing input to each other, thereby their work program is related to each other. It is in accordance with its objectives, namely materializing more solid and meaningful as well as beneficial IKAL organization, not only for its participants, but also public, nation and state.

In the election of the Chairman, General (Ret) Agum Gumelar was re-elected as the Chief Executive of Central IKAL for period of 2010-2014. In such chance, Lemhannas RI Governor as the Elder Member reminded that in the election of new management for period of 2010-2014, it is necessary to realize that the position as a Chief Executive of IKAL is as a social worker based on the spirit of struggle and devotion of both time and material. So far, IKAL has been able to indicate its positive cooperation and dedication in the family aspect, dedication to the community, nation and state, with expectation that the new management is at least able to maintain and if possible increase matters already carried out well.

Commemoration of 81st Mother's Day

Reading out of Mandate in the Ceremony of 81st Mother's Day by Lemhannas RI Governor Prof. DR. Muladi, SH, in Dwi Warna Purna Building of Lemhannas RI on December 22, 2009

On December 22, 2009, Lemhannas RI carried out the Ceremony of Mother's Day in Dwi Warna Purna Building of Lemhannas RI.

The remarks of the State Minister for Human Empowerment and Children Protection read out by Lemhannas RI Governor Prof. DR. Muladi, SH, revealed that the Commemoration of Mother's day is one of programs to commemorate the event as the Indonesian female struggle history to take part in together with male group in maintaining the Indonesian Nation and State dignity. The females also took part in the Indonesian Female Congress I on December 22, 1928 in Jogjakarta, then they took part in the struggle to gain the Indonesia's independency and maintain it, as well as fill this independence by participation in the national development. So, it is clear that the female group is not only a complement in the struggle of this country, but also becomes key part together with the male group in advancing the nation life in this country and has role in many life aspects.

Many programs have been carried out by the Government, Non-Government Organization, NGO and Private to empower the female group and materialize gender equality, and the advancement is seen in many sectors such as education, health, economic, socio culture, law and decision making. However, it is inevitable that this nation still applies 4 (four) forms of discrimination process to the female, namely: (1) There is still denial to the female's role in public space; (2) low budget to eradicate the gender discrimination and gap; (3) low attention to fulfill the right to reproduction health and work protection (4) Proliferating regional regulation discriminative to the female group restricting their role. However, it is realized that the gender management strategy implementation still face many challenges at field due to low understanding and low commitment of the decision maker and political elite thereby rendering gap in the role and position in many development sectors between the female and male.

The theme of commemoration of 81st Mother's Day was "Equality of Female and Male in the National Development". In this respect, the gender management strategy should be integrated to education sector starting from elementary, secondary and high schools, as well as in all education levels before 2015. In the health sector, the main focus is to protect the reproduction health and fulfillment of the female reproduction right, and for female kids, as well as decrease in the mother's mortality rate, besides integrating the gender to infrastructure to decrease the female and female kids' burden.

Subsequently, the gender perspective should also be integrated in fulfilling the female's right to the ownership of land and other property, eradicating the violence against female and child including in conflict situation as well as increasing the female participation in the public space in every level. To overcome the problem above, there should be support from all parties. So by the spirit of this Mother's Day, the State Minister for Human Empowerment and Children Protection wanted to appeal all parties to cooperate and integrate their commitment as well as spirit to eradicate all types of discrimination by gender and eradicate all types of violence against female together with the male in all other community's elements. Without strong cooperation and commitment, it is impossible to materialize the gender justice and equality as an effort to create democratic, just and peaceful Indonesia.

CLOSING OF REGULAR TRAINING PROGRAM BATCH XLIII OF THE NATIONAL RESILIENCE INSTITUTION OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA

The Regular Training Program Batch (PPRA) XLIII taking place for nine a half months run well according to the curriculum already formulated, and on the Wednesday, December 10th, 2009, it was ended with a Training Closing Ceremony by Lemhannas RI Governor in Dwi Warna Purna Building.

PPRA XLIII of 2009 had theme "National Economic Development for National Resilience", aimed at understanding and comprehending the important role of the national economic development for the National Resilience. This theme was also detailed in many lecture and discussion materials during the learning-teaching process according to the global, regional and national strategic environmental condition having direct impact on development of national economic. It is reasonable for us to be proud and pleased, that amid the global financial crisis storm, the Indonesian economic still grew positively compared to the other countries in the world besides China and India in G20 group, that also amid the global financial crisis storm they still grew positively.

Lemhannas RI Governor stated that the curriculum change principle already made covers the efficiency and effectiveness principles by developing the Long Distance Education during the off campus phase, balance principle between inward-outward locking, quality assurance principle endeavoring to make Lemhannas RI equal to the similar institution overseas, technology adaptation principle by utilizing telematic (telecommunication, multimedia and communication) technology, continuing education principle allowing PPRA alumni to be able to continue post graduate study in strategic study sector. The most fundamental principle is the principle highly upholding the truth by enforcing the intellectual integrity, academic freedom and academic culture in attending the training in Lemhannas RI.

Participants of PPRA XLIII of Lemhannas RI received Wibawa Seroja Nugraha Appreciation: DR. Ir. Roy Alexandar Sparringa, M. App., Sc, Drs. Wahyu Indra Pramugari, SH., MH., Drs. Arief Dirgantara, SH., MH., MM and those received Predicate Andalan Appreciation: Kolonel Marinir Achmad Faridz Washington, DR. Pariatmono, M.Sc. and Ir. Hedyanto W. Husaini, MSCE., M.Si on December 10th, 2009 in Dwi Warna Purwa Building Lemhannas RI.

The global, regional or national strategic environmental development that is more dynamic and tending to asymmetric, with many inherent impacts are the phenomena requiring proper, smart and wise response by every citizen and leader to secure the life continuity with national interest perspective.

The asymmetric threat, asymmetric war phenomena that are more prominent currently result in heavy constraint and challenge, besides many inherent opportunities in internal or external dimensions, potentially providing opportunity and chance besides threat to life continuity including national economic. Like currently, the complexity of national problem continuously striking the state and nation is expectedly able to be solved by using more elegant and dignified method, without through tiring conflicts among nation components and national leaders bringing negative impact on the national life. It is reasonable to be proud that Seminar of PPRA XLIII of 2009 had theme national energy producing a topic entitled "Strengthening of Policy on Energy to Support the National Economic for the National Resilience", elaborated before the President on December 7th, 2009 and there were positive response. It should be used as very valuable material for alumni of PPRA XLIII in performing the task after they return to their respective institution, agency or organization and also able to create the new discourse of national life order supporting the creation of policy more sided to effectiveness and efficiency of energy management besides food and water being the source of many forms of conflict in global, regional and domestic levels and it is expectedly able to utilize the economical technology and culture contribution from the community's life style against the energy consumption according to the expectation of Lemhannas RI. As well as able to provide the model in every movement and step as leader that always sensitive and care to the national social politic life continuity and national interest.

Coordination of Preparation of LAKIP of 2009

Inspector of Lemhannas RI Inspector General Drs. Alpiner Sinaga as the chairman of meeting chaired the meeting on Coordination of Lakip Preparation of 2009 on January 13th, 2010 at 13.00, at the working room of Inspector of Lemhannas RI attended by the Executive Personnel in program sector of each work unit of Lemhannas RI.

In this chance, the Inspector of Lemhannas RI addressed that Lemhannas RI as government's agency should prepare, arrange and address the progress report in writing and periodically. This report is intended to communicate the attainment in one fiscal year related to the objective and target attainment process to account for and explain the success and failure in the performance degree attained. The performance reporting by the government's agency is then contained in the Government's Agency Performance Accountability Report (LAKIP). This Lakip can be categorized as routine report, since it is at least prepared and addressed to the interested parties by annually.

While the principles of the making of Lakip are that the report shall be arranged honestly, objectively, accurately and transparently. In addition, it is also necessary to take into account:

1. Accountability scope principle. The matters reported shall be proportional to the scope of their respective authority and responsibility and contain the failure and success.

2. Priority principle. The matters reported shall be the important and relevant matters for the decision making of agency accountability for the follow-up programs

3. Benefit principle, namely the report benefit shall be greater than its arrangement cost, and the report shall have benefit for the increase in performance attainment.

In this respect, it is also necessary to take into account several good report characteristics such as relevant, timely, accountable, reliable and understandable (clear and cautious), in attractive form (express and consistent), (not contradictory between one part and the other), highly comparable (reliable), verifiable, complete, neutral, dense and complying with the stipulated report standard.

Lakip was addressed through the reporting mechanism involving the party competent to make and receive the Lakip as well as the user of Lakip. Lemhannas RI as Non Department Government Institution is obliged and authorized to make Lakip.

While the mechanisms of Lakip are as follows:

a. Every work unit shall make the accountability, progress report gradually and periodically for submission to their respective superior.

b. Annual Lakip is submitted to the President and Vice President with carbon copy to the Minister responsible for State Administration Reform (PAN) as well as to the Financial and Development Supervisory Board (BPKP).
