Governor of Lemhannas RI Attends Kopassus Unit Commanders Assembly

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto was present as a speaker at Kopassus Unit Commanders Assembly of 2022 on Monday (30/5/22), at Ricky Samuel Hall, Kopassus Education Center, Bandung, West Java.

During the assembly themed “Building Resilient Kopassus Unit Commanders to Ensure the Realization of Professional & Prosperous Soldiers & Kopassus Units as pillars of the Indonesian Army,” the Governor of Lemhannas RI conveyed the basic knowledge at Lemhannas RI that when it was established, Lemhannas RI was directed to be a geopolitical institute. At that time, the occurring geopolitical constellation was the Cold War between the Western Bloc and Eastern Bloc, making impacts on politics in Indonesia.

On that occasion, the Governor explained the conceptual evolution of Geopolitics I to Geopolitics V. “Geopolitics has evolved into geopolitics 5.0. At this point, what happens is the battle for connectivity; how the world is connected to each other regarding the supply chain and the battle that is going on over infrastructure,” he said.

Furthermore, the Governor explained that there is new literature in defense studies and military studies, namely the gray zone. Gray zone tactics facilitate states to achieve specific geopolitical goals without open war. This strategic dynamic is an aspect that must be taken into account for the national capacity building.

Furthermore, advances in the cyber dimension create novel vulnerabilities in the dynamics of global defense. “Currently, Indonesia is still at the orange level (unhealthy) so that there is a need for capacity increase to reduce risks and overcome cyber-attacks, especially those that disrupt the sustainability of the state,” the Governor said. Considering this condition, a Cyber Policy and Security Bill is currently being prepared because cyberspace is one of the vital points in geopolitics 5.0.

Concluding his speech, the Governor stated that there were three temporary concentrations at Lemhannas RI. First, preparing and thinking in the next three months to ensure that the described strategic issues experience no crisis. Second, thinking in the next 874 days regarding what the government will do. Third, thinking for the year of 2045 and beyond.

Vice President of the Republic of Indonesia K.H. Ma'ruf Amin Gives Public Lecture to PPRA 63 and 64 Participants

The Vice President of the Republic of Indonesia Prof. Dr. (H.C.) K.H. Ma'ruf Amin gave a public lecture to participants of the Regular Education Program (PPRA) Batch 63 and 64 of Lemhannas RI on Tuesday (07/06/22) at the Gadjah Mada Auditorium, Lemhannas RI. The public lecture that was delivered had two themes, namely "Public Political Education in the Context of National Resilience" and

"Multiplier Effects of the G-20 Presidency on Geopolitics and Indonesian Interests".

The Vice President stated that at the global level, Indonesia has made a historical and monumental record, among others, the execution of Asian-African Conference in 1955 and its recognition as an archipelagic state in the United Nation Convention of Law of the Sea 1982. Not to forget that this year, Indonesia also holds the G20 Presidency and next year, Indonesia will be the Chair of ASEAN. The recognition of Indonesia's role in the world is based on sincerity and neutrality in the spirit of realizing the ideals of the nation as stated in the opening of the 1945 Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia.

"However, it is worth remembering that the recognition that Indonesia acquired for its work abroad is impossible without us first fixing our domestic affairs by improving the political, economic, and socio-cultural ecosystems," said the Vice President.

In this regard, Indonesia took over the G20 leadership, which aims to strengthen consultation and cooperation in overcoming the crisis caused by the pandemic. The G20 presidency is a momentum for Indonesia to gain credibility or trust from the international community in leading the global recovery.

At the end of the lecture, the Vice President gave PPRA 63 and 64 participants some advice. First, a leader must be capable to build collaboration with various parties to realize equitable and just people's welfare. Second, a leader must know how to take full advantage of existing international cooperation structures. Third, a leader must strengthen partnerships and collaborations with various stakeholders. Lastly, a leader must improve his/her competence to communicate ideas effectively, analyze systematically, and organize and make use of networks to complete the duties of a leader.
