Lemhannas RI and BSSN Sign Electronic Certificate Cooperation Agreement

The Head of the Telematics Bureau of Lemhannas RI, Air First Marshal Paminto Bambang Pamungkas, S.I.P. and the Head of the Electronic Certification Center of the National Cyber and Crypto Agency (BSrE BSSN) Jonathan Gerhard Tarigan, S.T., M.A.P., signed Electronic Certificate Cooperation Agreement on Friday (22/7/22), at Airlangga Room, Astagatra Building, Lemhannas RI which was broadcasted virtually via streaming services.

“This process is the first step for Lemhannas RI to implement electronic signatures to support an electronic-based government system,” said Paminto Bambang Pamungkas at his speech. According to him, the application of electronic signatures is expected to improve the institution’s performance because administrative processes such as signing documents can be carried out more efficiently, at any time, and any place.

After the signing of the cooperation agreement, technical training on the use of electronic signatures will be carried out within Lemhannas RI. With the implementation of electronic signatures in Lemhannas RI, all working units of Lemhannas RI can use this service to speed up administrative processes and improve the institution’s performance.

On the same occasion, Jonathan Gerhard Tarigan revealed that the application of SPBE is a form of digital transformation through several conditions that must be fulfilled by every government institution. The electronic certification service builds trust by providing three aspects of information security based on encryption systems. First, authentication guarantee that certify the identity of the document owner. Second, integrity guarantee, which ensures that the content of the document cannot be changed by unauthorized persons. Third, non-repudiation guarantee, which ensures that no party can repudiate an electronic document transmission.

Jonathan Gerhard Tarigan also said that through the signing of the Cooperation Agreement, BSrE BSSN will support the issuance of electronic certificates by providing resource persons, mentoring, and providing technical support in case of errors in the use of electronic certificates, as well as providing and evaluating the implementation. “We hope that Lemhannas RI and BSSN can implement the points of agreement that have been prepared with full commitment to improve work effectiveness, integrated and sustainable work patterns. Governor of Lemhannas RI Emphasizes Knowledge, Experience, and Strategic Instinct for Developing Strategic Leadership

The Strengthening of National Values Program for leaders and members of the Association of Indonesian Regency DPRD's (ADKASI) in 2022 was officially opened by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto on Monday (25/7/22), at Dwi Warna Purwa Room, Pancagatra Building, Lemhannas RI.

On that occasion, Andi Widjajanto conveyed his thoughts regarding the leadership of Geo V. There were three principal ideas that were suggested to the participants of the strengthening of national values program to be developed further. The first is knowledge. "Today, there is no reason for us to say I don't know. Today, our problem is knowing too much," he said.

Andi Widjajanto also said that knowledge alone is not enough without experience. "If later you succeed in combining knowledge and experience, one more character will be produced. That is strategic instinct," he said. Regarding geopolitics, according to Andi Widjajanto, the points that must be combined is individual interaction-based leader and technology interaction-based leader.

Andi Widjajanto also views that leaders should not only focus on technology without the development of personnel. Individuals remain important because the organization is basically formed from personal interactions between individuals. If this interaction is successful, the organization will perform well. He also advised the participants to pay attention to the demographic bonus of the Z generation, G generation, and Alpha generation that in 2025 will be at the age of seventeen and above.

Lemhannas RI Establishes Cooperation with Foreign Policy Community of Indonesia

Lemhannas RI, represented by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto, signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Foreign Policy Community of Indonesia (FPCI) that was represented by the Chairman of FPCI Dr. Dino Patti Djalal on Thursday (28/7/22), at Nusantara Room, Trigatra Building, Lemhannas RI.

The Memorandum of Understanding, which will be valid for the next five years, comprises several points including quality improvement of Human Resources through education and training, exchange of experts and strengthening of national values, exchange of information, and carrying out studies.

FPCI, which is an international relations community since 2015, has regularly held conferences related to foreign policy. Currently, FPCI has developed into the largest international relations community in Indonesia and Southeast Asia. “We are growing quite rapidly, what makes us different from other institutions is that we are young people,” said Dino Patti Djalal.

On the same occasion, Dino Patti Djalal also highlighted the currently implemented politics and foreign policy. He views the need for some adjustments by taking into account the especially dynamic geopolitical constellation of the world. “We have to start being more sensitive to what roles and capacities that Indonesia can bring to the world, the most important thing is that the country safe and the region undisturbed,” he said. Dino Patti Djalal considered the collaboration between Lemhannas RI and FPCI as a strategic step in finding numerous solutions, ideas, and joint initiatives that could benefit the Republic of Indonesia.

“It is an honor for us Lemhannas RI that today we can sign a memorandum of understanding with the FPCI,” said Andi Widjajanto. According to him, the cooperation is in line with the role of Lemhannas RI in carrying out studies so that it can deepen the results of the studies.

“Lemhannas RI and FPCI is expected to establish regular forums such as the FGDs that we conduct regularly, which combine the strength of the FPCI network in the diplomatic community with what we have in this institution, which we can hold annually,” concluded Andi Widjajanto.

The Governor of Lemhannas RI, Andi Widjajanto, was present as a speaker at the “National Outlook Management Forum for Fostering the National Spirit of Patriotism of PT. Pupuk Sriwidjaja Palembang in Realizing National Food Resilience” on Monday (1/8/22) at the Musi Auditorium of PT. Pusri Palembang, South Sumatra.

On that occasion, Andi Widjajanto discussed Food Geopolitics which is basically part of the power struggle among countries in a certain region and is continuously expansionist in nature. “Today we are entering the era of geopolitics 5.0. This becomes special because it is oriented towards connectivity, infrastructure and supply chain. Therefore, for example, if PT. Pupuk Pusri is considering geopolitics 5.0, it has to actually design its fertilizer supply chain,” he said. Andi Widjajanto also explained that the far right end of the fertilizer supply chain is food production, while the far left end is raw materials related to natural resources and energy.

Regarding the possibility of food insecurity that occurs in Indonesia due to dependence on rice as the only type of carbohydrate, a special strategy is needed in shaping the diversification of carbohydrate consumption patterns in the future. Another problem is the low consumption of fish related to the fulfilment of the needs of animal protein, whereas the potential for marine fisheries production in Indonesia is enormous considering the geographical condition of Indonesia an archipelagic state.

Regarding ecological sustainability, Andi Widjajanto said that Indonesia has a net zero emission target in 2060. “Energy must be renewable in the next sixteen years,” he said. Regarding this, he a suggestion that within the next 12 to 15 years, PT. Pusri can transform into ‘Green Pusri’ that is more environmentally friendly.
