The Governor of Lemhannas RI Explains the Dynamics of Mineral Geopolitics

JAKARTA - The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto acted as the keynote speaker at the Short Course on Energy, Natural Resources, Minerals and the Environment of the Muhammadiyah Central Executive (PP) on Tuesday (25/7), in the PP Muhammadiyah Auditorium.

The activity which was attended by 34 regional leaders of Muhammadiyah Youth throughout Indonesia with backgrounds from lecturers, academics, social community members, and advocates, raised the theme "Mineral Mining as a Leverage for Indonesia's Bargaining Position in Geopolitics".

The theme was raised, aiming to explore energy and mining issues, increase national knowledge and insights related to energy, mining to environmental sustainability for Muhammadiyah youth so that they can play a role in public policy making.

On this occasion, Andi Widjajanto spoke about mineral geopolitics. Competition for connectivity and access to strategic resources has become a characteristic of recent geopolitical dynamics. Minerals are strategic resources that have long been the battle arena between the world's great powers. The energy transition reinforces the significance of minerals in global geopolitical dynamics. Supply limitations and concentrations have pushed many countries to compete in obtaining and securing access to minerals that are considered strategic.

Observing these challenges, President Joko Widodo asked Lemhannas RI to conduct a joint study with ministries/agencies and think tanks to calculate greenflation, namely inflation that occurs when green technology is applied. "Because now what we are campaigning for, for example, let's live with an awareness of being environmentally friendly," Andi Widjajanto said.

Regarding the strategic mineral potential in Indonesia, nickel is a strategic mineral commodity whose production continues to be encouraged. In fact, Indonesia has become a major nickel player at the global level. However, Andi Widjajanto said that nickel mining must be adjusted to downstream needs so that nickel can be managed for the next twenty-six or even twenty-seven years.

Also attending the event were PP Muhammadiyah chairman Dzulfikar A. Tawalla, PP Muhammadiyah Youth Forestry and Environment Chair Sandro Andriawan, and Chairperson of Energy and Mineral Resources (ESDM) of PP Pemuda Muhammadiyah Dedi Irawan.

JAKARTA - Managing Director of BPJS Kesehatan (the Health Care and Social Security Agency) Prof. dr. Ghufron Mukti, M.Sc, Ph.D. had the opportunity to give a virtual lecture to participants of the Regular Education Program Batch 65 (PPRA 65) of Lemhannas RI on Friday (28/7). In his lecture, Ghufron Mukti presented material on the topic "Realizing Social Welfare through National Health Insurance".

In his presentation, Ghufron Mukti firmly underlined the importance of strengthening social security in realizing social justice. According to him, Social Justice will not be achieved if Indonesian people are not prosperous. This implies that social welfare and social security are two inseparable elements in building a just society.

"Health insurance is part of social welfare. We want health services to be faster, easier, and equal," Ghufron Mukti said.

To achieve its goal, Indonesia has stepped forward by implementing the National Health Insurance-Indonesian Health Card (JKN-KIS) program. This program is the main pillar in providing social protection to all Indonesians. Through JKN-KIS, every Indonesian citizen has equal access to quality health services, regardless of their social or economic status. Thus, this program does not only provide social welfare but also guarantees social security.

Ghufron Mukti stressed the importance of promotion and prevention in the BPJS Kesehatan program which must be strengthened to increase efficiency and effectiveness. He highlighted that BPJS Kesehatan has a crucial role in carrying out its responsibilities regarding each participant health. By prioritizing health promotion and disease prevention efforts, BPJS Kesehatan is able to reduce the burden of long-term care costs. This not only benefits participants, but also ensures the continued availability of funds for better health services.

JAKARTA - Lemhannas RI held a Focus Group Discussion (FGD) for an urgent and fast study (jurpat) with the title "Settlement of Maritime Boundary Disputes Between Indonesia and Malaysia" on Wednesday (2/8) in the Kresna Room, Astagatra Building, 4th Floor, Lemhannas RI.

The FGD is a strategic study that discusses the development of maritime boundary disputes between Indonesia and Malaysia. The development of the situation at the border needs to be studied carefully in order to guarantee the integrity and sovereignty of the Unitary State of the Republic of Indonesia (NKRI). "This issue is a chronic issue for Indonesia and until now it has not been fully resolved," said Deputy Governor of Lemhannas RI Lt. Gen. Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah.

In the FGD facilitated by the Director of Defense and Security Studies and Geography, First Marshal Rolland D.G. Waha., is expected to be able to provide proper understanding and receive productive input to be used as study material by Lemhannas RI, whose output is in the form of input and suggestions for the Indonesian government.

JAKARTA - Lemhannas RI held a National Seminar “Digital Transformation of Indonesia 2045” on Monday (7/8), at the Borobudur Hotel. The event was organized by the Deputy Office for Strategic Studies and opened directly by the Governor of Lemhannas RI, Andi Widjajanto.

In his remarks, Andi Widjajanto conveyed three points, namely geotechnology, Indonesia’s digital transformation, and the potential of the digital economy. Regarding geotechnology, the world condition, which is moving dynamically to build digital connectivity, is challenged by competitions of giant powers. Currently, semiconductor chip technology competition is the center of competition between the United States and China.

Andi Widjajanto also said that Singapore, apart from having the Army, Navy and Air Forces, now has the Digital and Intelligence Service (DIS) to deal with the dynamics of cyberspace. The Singaporean government believes that in the next 4-5 years, there will be a technological leap that renders all efforts in cybersecurity useless.

The second point that Andi Widjajanto conveyed was Indonesia’s digital literacy position globally. Based on a study conducted by Oxford Inside in 2022, Indonesia’s position is in the middle.

Lemhannas RI also analyzed the digital indexes of 2019, 2021 and 2022, starting from the Digital Readiness Index, the Innovation Index, the National Cyber Security Index, and the National Economic Transformation Index. It can be seen that Indonesia’s level is at 2 to 3 consistently. “We have to achieve the 4th and 5th level regarding AI readiness in 2045,” Andi Widjajanto said.

The third point was the potential for the national digital economy. Andi Widjajanto believes that the potential is especially high and must be well utilized. The largest population of digital consumers in the Southeast Asia region in 2021 will be in Indonesia, which was at 39 percent.

Furthermore, Andi Widjajanto conveyed that Indonesia has a grand task, namely digital human resources. Lemhannas RI also in this case has the task to prepare a national digital architecture, starting from doctrine, regulations, policies, programs, budget allocations, human resources and technology.

JAKARTA - The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto acted as a speaker at the XV International Symposium of the 2023 World Indonesian Students Association (PPI) with the theme "A Nation Reimagined: The Role of Students in Supporting Indonesia in Global Competition and International Contribution" virtually on Tuesday (8/8).

The International Symposium which was held for the 15th time was a collaboration between PPI Dunia and PPI Netherlands. Bringing up critical issues of national concern, the symposium is a space to explore international dynamics that are close to the Indonesian student diaspora in various countries.

On this occasion, Andi Widjajanto explained the world's geopolitical conditions which are entering the era of connectivity as part of geopolitical evolution I to V. In the era of connectivity, there were several offers from major countries. China is offering the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI), the United States (US) is offering the Indo Pacific Economic Framework, and Russia is offering the International North-South Transport Corridor (INSTC). Unfortunately, these offers divide the world into parts and fail to create global connectivity.

"Hopefully later, everyone who study at universities around the world can help us in Indonesia to find more real data about how these countries have certain interests," Andi Widjajanto said.

On the same occasion, Andi Widjajanto expressed his hopes on the participants who attended to continue growing to be experts in their respective fields so that they would become a driving force towards Golden Indonesia 2045.

JAKARTA - "During its 78 years of independence, Indonesia has always been committed to becoming one national identity and striving to realize national ideals," Deputy Governor of Lemhannas RI Lieut. Gen. Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah as Inspector of the 78th Anniversary of the Independence Day of the Republic of Indonesia on Thursday, (17/8), at Lemhannas RI Central Field.

In realizing national aspirations, Indonesia has been experiencing various dynamics at the national, regional, and global levels. However, in the midst of the dynamics and challenges, Indonesia was able to deal with them well so it could recover faster and rise stronger. In fact, for the second year in a row, Indonesia was elected to the G20 Presidency and is entrusted as the Chair of ASEAN 2023.

The 78th Anniversary of the Republic of Indonesia with the theme "Keep going for Advanced Indonesia" is a momentum for the Indonesian people to continue the pace of growth together, advance together progressively, and rekindle the spirit of struggle. "Don't let this momentum stop, keep moving in harmony and continue national development with the spirit of 'relay' and progressive movement towards advanced Indonesia," Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah said.

Furthermore, Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah also invited all ceremony participants to reflect on a collective, harmonious, collaborative spirit and to synchronize the rhythm of movement and the synergy of thoughts from all elements of the nation to keep moving forward for one goal, Indonesia to progress. "I invite all members and education participants of Lemhannas RI, to work together, synergize, collaborate, and move in harmony. Not only in carrying out the duties, roles, and functions of Lemhannas RI, but also in helping Indonesia to continue driving for advanced Indonesia to improve nation and state's welfare," he concluded.

JAKARTA - Deputy Governor of Lemhannas RI, Lieut. Gen. Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah opened the Opening Ceremony of Training for the Spouses of Regular Education Program Batch 65 (PPRA 65) Participants of Lemhannas RI on Monday (21/8) at the Gadjah Mada Auditorium, Lemhannas RI.

The training, which lasted for five days, was attended by 94 wives and 4 husbands of PPRA 65 participants. During the training, the participants received various materials and made cultural visits. It is hoped that these activities can prepare and strengthen the role of PPRA 65 participants' spouses as assistants to national-level leader cadres. "This (training) is very important in order to meet and face the challenges of future duties and life," Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah stated during his speech.

Furthermore, Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah views that the success of Lemhannas RI's education participants in pursuing careers and carrying out state duties would be impossible without the role of their spouses as companions. Therefore, it is only fitting to preserve the harmony of husband and wife through maintaining and adjusting insights, morals, and ethics.

Highlighting the current conditions, the national spirit, a family climate with high tolerance, and togetherness with the foundation of Bhinneka Tunggal Ika (Unity in Diversity) are deemed weakened due to globalization and the dynamics of the developing political situation. Therefore, Lemhannas RI views that PPRA 65 participants' spouses need to strengthen their understanding of national insights by prioritizing national unity and integrity based on people's interests.

The training carried out by Lemhannas RI basically aims to prepare the wives/husbands to further strengthen their role in assisting and accompanying their spouses, in official, family, and community relations. "Through this training, it is hoped that the meaning of national morals and ethics can be implemented in their mindset, attitude and behaviour," Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah stated.
