Approaching democracy party, Deputy Office of Strategic Studies hold FGD to discuss the actualization of political parties role

Approaching the Regional and Presidential election in the upcoming 2018-2019, political parties started to send their leader cadres whether in regional, legislative (DPR, DPD, and DPRD) and also presidential level. Political parties become one of important democracy pillars in creating leader cadre because UUD NRI (Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia) stated that "The pairs of candidates for President and Vice-President shall be proposed prior to the holding of general elections by political parties or coalitions of political parties which are participants in the general elections" meanwhile in Article 22 E paragraph 3 of The 1945 Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia stated that The participants in the general election for the election of the members of the DPR and the members of the DPRD are political parties".

Observing the dynamics that occurred in the society in welcoming the Regional and Presidential elections in the upcoming 2018-2019, Deputy of Strategic Studies of Lemhannas RI conducted a study through Focus Group Discussion (FGD) on Tuesday (6/3/2018) in Gatot Kaca Room, Astagatra Building, Lemhannas RI with the theme "Actualization of State Leadership in Political Party Cadres for the Realization of Political Ethics in the framework of National Resilience". The FGD presented four speakers including Staff of Ministry of State Apparatus Empowerment and Bureaucracy Reform Hendro Witjaksono, Ak., M.Acc., Chairman of the Commission II of the House of Representatives H. Zainudin Amali, S.E., Expert of Psychology of University of Indonesia M.Si, Prof. Dr. Hamdi Moeloek, M.Si, and Prof. Dr. Ir. Sedarnawati Yasni M.Agr.. In the FGD, Deputy of Strategic Studies Prof. Dr. Djalal Wisoso Marseno, M. Agr. opened the FGD by explaining some of the issues discussed.

H. Zainudin Amali, S.E., M.Si.*

One of the phenomena that the FGD concern about is the interests of groups / individuals which are more dominant than the interests of society. Meanwhile Zainudin Amali conveyed that the current function of political parties, which is a means of regeneration and recruitment of leaders, have not run properly and if it continues, it will have an impact on national resilience. "Because the political party more focus on the presence of mass rather than presenting potential leader cadres. Political parties also less focus on the people who can contribute thoughts to the development of political parties in the future," Zainudin Amali Chairman of Commission II of the House of Representatives said. According to Zainudin, the government needs to find a better and more suitable democratic form in Indonesia, and be able to answer the universal democratic norms.

The discussion was then continued with four responders namely Lecturer of Political and Social Science Faculty of Jakarta State University (UNJ) Ubedilah Badrun, M.Si., Executive Director of PARA Syndicate Ari Nurcahyo, S.Si., M.Hum., Professional Expert of Leadership Division of Lemhannas RI Major General (ret) Albert Inkiriwang, and Professional Expert of Domestic Politics Kisnu Haryo S.H., M.A.●

During the courtesy call, Bimo Sasongko, Head of IABIE accompanied by its members were warmly welcomed by Governor of Lemhannas RI Lt. Gen. (ret) Agus Widjojo.

In the beginning, Bimo explained, the Habibie Program which started in 1980s until 2000 was initiated by B.J. Habibie who was then Minister of Research and Technology. The Habibie program had sent more than 4000 high school graduates to continue their education with scholarships to nine developed countries such as the United States, Canada, Germany, France, England, Austria, the Netherlands, Japan and Australia.

Bimo believes that this scholarship program is such a successful program. "This is one of the most successful scholarship programs, in our opinion, and I think it is true because he (B.J. In addition, students sent through the Habibie Program scholarship program were then expected to lead or occupy strategic positions in strategic industries.

Challenge for national resilience approaching the 2018 Regional Election became the theme for Communication Forum of Lemhannas RI

Governor of Lemhannas RI Lt. Gen. (ret) Agus Widjojo officially opened Communication Forum which was held by Public Relations Bureau of Lemhannas RI by inviting Editor-in-Chiefs along with journalist of printed, electronic, and online mass media on Wednesday (14/3) in Trigatra Pavilion, Lemhannas RI. Forkom which has been held since 2011 is aimed to share factual and actual information about the issue of national resilience as well as a gathering event between Lemhannas RI with mass media.

The challenge of national resilience approaching the regional elections in 2018 is an interesting theme that is raised in this forum. According to Agus Widjojo, the elections can not be used properly by political parties to consolidate internally. “They think it’s enough, business as usual. They realize that no cadre can be nominated or its corrupt cadres or perceptions that said strong parties usually lose in the region. The party should have introspected why they lost,” Agus Widjojo said.

Agus Widjojo conveyed that in facing the upcoming regional elections national resilience is still in process, because there is no ideological base that oversees the political party as a differentiator between one party and the other party. “Political Party A is not connected to party B, but on the other hand, A can coalesce with B whose ideology is different. This is the weakness of the political system, but for national resilience, it brings benefits in moderating conflict,” Agus Widjojo said.

Some issues raised in the discussion were the hand operation cases (OTT) done by Corruption Eradication Commission (KPK) for regional leaders who also become one of the indicators that money politics still happens in society due to high amount of funds needed by the candidates for regional leaders in campaigning. In addition, other issues that trigger conflict such as SARA (ethnic, religion, race and other group) is still a threat to the peaceful elections. Furthermore, hoaxes spread in social media, as well as people who are easily ingested by hoaxes also happen.

Chairman of Editor-in-Chiefs Forum Suryopratomo who is usually called as Tommy highlighted the related democratic system in Indonesia which he said was build in a hurry. Because of the system, the role of political parties are needed in realizing the ideals of this nation. “In order to be able to be managed, democracy must be done properly based on national insights. How the task of political parties in building democracy to build social justice, educate the life of the nation,” Suryopratomo said. According to him, the problem is not on national resilience, but on the lust of politics that justifies any means in the fight. “My point is, let us realize that democracy should be applied in the real world. Do not bring democracy to the paradigm of idealism. Democracy is not the best system, democracy is second,” Suryopratomo explained. ●

Prof. Mie Oba visits Lemhannas to talk about Indo-Pacific Concept in Japan's version

Prof. Mie Oba, Academician of Tokyo University of Science, Japan, visited Lemhannas RI to discuss Japan's foreign policy especially Indo-Pacific Concept as Japan's regional strategy on Wednesday (21/3) in Airlangga Room, Astagatra Building 3rd Floor, Lemhannas RI.

Japan's promotion regarding the open and free Indo-Pacific Concept has been echoed by Prime Minister Shinzo Abe in 2007 in front of Indian Parliament that stated as the meeting of two oceans, Pacific Ocean and Indian Ocean

According to Mie Oba, this concept is Japan's proposal strategy to expand regional peace and prosperity which was oriented in East Asia- Asia Pacific region and now expand to Indian Ocean region including African countries, as mentioned by Prime Minister Abe in Tokyo International Conference of Africa Development (TICAD) forum on August, 2016.

"Foreign Minister (Fumio) Kishida in the beginning of 2015 in his speech in New delhi, India mentioned 3 connectors that correlate Indo-pacific; value and spirit, dynamic economy, open and stable oceans," Oba said.

Oba continued saying that this strategy means to expand the strategic relationship between big countries and regional power called as quadrilateral strategic linkage. "Japan, the United States, India, and Australia are important countries but the Indo-Pacific Concept implies a possible anti-Chinese coalition," Oba said.

This implication, Oba added, caused a reaction from ASEAN. According to her, the Japanese government offers an alternative framework of security architecture offered by China in the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI)

The conception of Indo Pacific itself is quite popular these days. President Joko Widodo also introduced the Indo-Pacific concept at the ASEAN-India Summit in January, which is different from the Japanese version of the Indo-Pacific concept. The Indonesian version of the Indo-Pacific concept calls on all key players, including China and Russia, to put forward a dialogue without any country feeling left behind.

In the discussion attended by the Deputy Governor of Lemhannas RI Air Marshal Bagus Puruhito, several Faculty Members, structural officers, and representatives of PPRA LVII Participants, it was also discussed about Indonesia-China relations, South China Sea issue, North Korea nuclear, Japan-US alliance, and Japanese foreign policy in South Asia countries.

Prior to the discussion, Professor Mie Oba conducted courtesy call with Governor of Lemhannas RI Lt. Gen. (ret) Agus Widjojo in Executive Guest Room, Trigatra Building, 1st Floor●
