He said the issuance of the general policy concerns with the readiness of Lemhannas RI to become a world class institution.

"The most fundamental issue with the issuance of the general policy is that we must be ready to implement it so that it will allow us to achieve the goal of becoming a world class institution", he explained.

Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji also asserted before the plenary session participants that the Governing Board will monitor and evaluate the implementation of general policies that has been issued.

The results of monitoring, evaluation and actual development, added the Chairman of the Governing Board, are important as input in formulating future general policies.

It is expressly stated that the general policy issued in the form of book is used for planning, organizing, implementation and supervision of programs and activities of Lemhannas.

The general policy material covers policies in the field of national-level leadership education program, strategic studies and strengthening of national values. It also includes secretariat, inspectorate, organizational strengthening and budgeting issues.

Present in the plenary session are the Governing Board members Prof. Dr. Juwono Sudarsono, M.A., and General of Police (Ret.) Drs. Bambang Hendarso Danuri, M.M.

The plenary session was also attended by Vice Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc., Deputies, Expert Lecturers, Expert Analysts and Expert Professionals.

Lemhannas RI and ANRI sign MoU

The National Resilience Institute of the Republic of Indonesia (Lemhannas RI) and the National Archives of the Republic of Indonesia (ANRI) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) at the Grand Kemang Hotel in Jakarta, Monday (21/5).

The MoU was signed by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. and the Head of ANRI M. Asichin, and was witnessed by the Deputy Minister for the Empowerment of State Apparatus and Bureaucratic Reforms Prof. Dr. Eko Prasajo.

The MoU covers a number of areas including the national resilience and archiving.

The areas of cooperation covered by the MoU include the national-level leadership education, strategic studies, strengthening of national values, national archival policy, development of national archives and archives management.

The signing of MoU is expected to improve the synergy between Lemhannas RI and ANRI in carrying out their respective tasks and functions.

Other than signing a MoU with Lemhannas RI, ANRI also signed an executive program with state companies LKBN Antara and PT Telkom, as well as with the State Archives Administration of China.

Lemhannas RI Facilitates Easier Public Access to Its Works

The National Resilience Institute of the Republic of Indonesia (Lemhannas RI) will facilitate easier public access to its works, through the publication of its journals and books.

The plan to facilitate easier public access was conveyed by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. at the commemoration of the 47th anniversary of Lemhannas RI at the auditorium of Lemhannas RI in Jakarta on Wednesday (23/5).

According to the governor, the effort to facilitate easier access was made in order to improve the contribution of the institution to the people and the nation.

“The publication of the journals and books is intended to facilitate easier public access to the work of Lemhannas RI, which would benefit the society and the nation,” he said.

Strengthening the role of Lemhannas RI towards a world class institution is the theme of the anniversary, serving as a stimulant to improve the role of the institution at the national, regional and global levels.

The anniversary was also filled with scientific oration on the poverty eradication strategies, which was delivered by Prof. Mudrajad Kuncoro, Ph.D., the youngest professor of the Faculty of Economics and Business from the Gadjah Mada University, Yogyakarta.

Present at the anniversary were the Attorney General Basrief Arief, S.H., M.H., the National Defense Forces (TNI)'s General Staff Chief Lt. Gen. J. Suryo Prabowo, and the Chairman of the Lemhannas Alumni Association, who is also former Governor of Lemhannas RI, Gen. (Ret.) Agum Gumelar, M.Sc.

Lemhannas RI Launches Swantara Magazine

Coinciding with the commemoration of its 47th anniversary, the National Resilience Institute of Republic Indonesia (Lemhannas RI) launched a new magazine Swantara.

The launching was held at the Lemhannas' auditorium on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan in Central Jakarta on Wednesday (23/5).

The launching of the quarterly magazine was inaugurated by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. in front of all ceremony participants and invitees.

The governor said that the magazine managed by the Bureau of Public Relations is means of communication, internally and externally, between Lemhannas RI, its stakeholders and the public.

It was mentioned that with a name meaning “self-reliant archipelago”, Swantara will represent the views and stance of the institution on the issues of nationalistic insight.

The granting of the magazine copies to the Indonesian Attorney General Basrief Arief, S.H., M.H., the Chairman of the Lemhannas Alumni Association and the former Governor of Lemhannas RI Gen. (Ret.) Agum Gumelar, M.Sc. also marked the launching.

The copies were also given to the representatives of the LKBN ANTARA Bambang Purwanto and LPP RRI Dadi Sumihardi

Oration on Poverty Eradication Marks Lemhannas RI's Anniversary

Scientific oration on the poverty eradication strategies was held in the commemoration of the 47th anniversary of Lemhannas RI on Wednesday (23/5) at the auditorium of Lemhannas RI on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan in Central Jakarta.

The oration was delivered by Mudrajad Kuncoro, Ph.D, a professor from the Gadjah Mada University (UGM) in Yogyakarta.

Citing the results of the survey conducted by the Lingkaran Survei Indonesia (LSI) in 2011, Prof. Mudrajad said that the government's performance gets the highest score in terms of providing affordable education and health care programs for the community.

While on the economic issues, the youngest professor of the UGM's Faculty of Economics and Business addressed various issues that Indonesia has with rising goods prices, increasing number of poor people and unemployment.

In the oration he expressed his views on the implementation of poverty eradication program that is pro-poor, pro-growth and pro-jobs. He also explained the opportunities encountered in implementing the program.

The oration was followed by all ceremony participants of the 47th anniversary of Lemhannas RI. Among the attendees included the Attorney General Basrief Arief, S.H., M.H., TNI Chief of General Staff Lt.

Gen. J. Suryo Prabowo, and Chairman of the Lemhannas Alumni Association who is also former Governor of Lemhannas RI Gen. (Ret.) Agum Gumelar, M.Sc.

Law Enforcement at Sea not yet Optimal

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. said that the state of security and law enforcement at sea today are not yet optimal.

He made the statement at a roundtable discussion held on the Trigatra Building of Lemhannas RI on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan in Central Jakarta, Tuesday (29/5).

According to Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji, some factors contribute to the situation, including the vast maritime territory of Indonesia and the suboptimal and non-synergic maritime safeguarding.

“The maritime safeguarding has yet to be carried out synergistically. Its implementation and coordination have not yet been conducted in an integrated manner”, he said while pointing out the limited facilities and infrastructure owned by the safeguarding forces.

The maritime security issues, said Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji, are not merely related to sovereignty and law enforcement. According to him, the sea should also be safe and free from threats, either for the users or in its utilization.

Therefore, it is said that the government has issued various policies to safeguard the Indonesian territorial sea.

One of which was to establish the Maritime Security Coordinating Board (Bakorkamla) through the Presidential Decree No. 81 of 2005. The board was formed to address the increasing nonmilitary threats at sea.

As a coordinating board,

Bakorkamla’s 13-member tasks are restricted to only coordination.

He mentioned that many parties carry out activities in Indonesian maritime territory, and some of which are violating the country’s sovereignty and laws and put it at a disadvantage.

The situation, therefore, he added, has posed the Indonesian sea to a high level of vulnerability.

The roundtable discussion, which raised the theme “Managing the Maritime Territory Security Arrangement in Order to Maintain Stability and Sovereignty of the Unitary State of the Republic Indonesia”, was attended by the Deputy Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., the Secretary of Governing Board Dr. Ardi Partadinata, MH, M.Si. and the Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc.

The roundtable discussion was also attended by the deputies, expert lecturers, expert analysts, and expert professionals of Lemhannas. The resource persons at the discussion were the Deputy Assistant for Operations to the Navy Chief of Staff Commodore Hendricus Semiring Arie and Prof. Dr. Etty R. Agoes, S.H., LL.M. of the Faculty of Law from the University of Padjajaran.

The Head of Legal information and Cooperation Center of Bakorkamla Commodore Drs. Tri Yuswoyo, M.Sc., M.Eng., and Vice Dean of the University of Indonesia’s Faculty of Social and Political Sciences Dr.

Eddy Prasetyono also acted as speakers.

Neglect of Pancasila

Nowadays Pancasila has been neglected as a result of changes in system, norms and amendment to the 1945 Constitution. The statement was conveyed by the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. citing the results of the third Pancasila congress held by the University of Airlangga (Unair) Surabaya from May 31 to June 1, 2011.

The results of the congress about the neglect of Pancasila were revealed in a roundtable discussion on the understanding of national alertness values in the Astagatra Building of Lemhannas RI on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan, Central Jakarta, Wednesday (30/5).

The fact was raised in the discussion in the context of increasing national alertness, involving relevant staff members from Lemhannas RI and lecturers from state and private universities.

According to Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji, the national alertness needs to be monitored from early on.

“National alertness must be based on ideological beliefs and strong nationalism. It also needs to be monitored from early on and continuously,” he said.

The early and continuous monitoring, he said, needs to be done in light of the ever changing situation and conditions, both at home and abroad.

On the occasion, he also conveyed the view of President Dr. H. Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono about the need for the reactualization and revitalization of Pancasila in the life of the nation.

The president’s view was delivered at the Commemoration of Bung Karno June 1, 1945 Speech at the House of People’s Consultative Assembly in Jakarta on Wednesday (1/6) last year.

Furthermore, Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji said that the national alertness is a subject that needs to be implemented by the people at all levels as the citizens of the nation.

The roundtable discussion was a follow-up to a series of research activities conducted by the Office of the Deputy for the Strengthening of National Values with a locus in 12 provinces in Indonesia.

The brainstorming activities featured resource persons expert professional in the Field of Geopolitics and Strategy Maj. Gen. (Ret.) E. Imam Maksudi, S.E. and Professional Expert in Domestic Government Dr. Kausar AS, M.Sc.

Other resource persons included the Expert Professional in National Resilience Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Lumban Sianipar, S.I.P., and Expert Professional in National Alertness Maj. Gen. (Ret.) I Putu Sastra Wingarta, S.I.P., M.Sc.

This event was also attended by the Deputy Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., the Secretary of Governing Board Dr. Ardi Partadinata, MH, M.Si., and the Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc.

The Deputy for Strategic Studies Inspector General (Pol) Herry Haryanto, Expert Lecturers, Expert Analysts and Expert Professionals, as well as the structural officials of Lemhannas RI were also in attendance.

It was also attended by representatives from universities, including lecturer and humanist Prof. Dr. Mudji Sutrisno, Chairman of the Institute of Research and Development for the National Life (LPPKB) Soeprapto, M.Ed., lecturer from Jakarta State University Dr. Muhammad Maiwan and lecturer from Esa Unggul University Adhitya Rizal Hidayat, S.I.P., M.M.

Creative Economy

Promotes Utilization of Resource Reserves

The creative economy promotes the utilization of renewable resource reserves as well as the unlimited resources, such as ideas, talent and creativity, said the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A.

It was conveyed by the governor during a roundtable discussion on the development of creative economy in creating jobs and alleviating poverty in the context of national resilience in Lemhannas RI, Jakarta.

At the event held in the Trigatrabuilding on Thursday (31/5), he stated that the economic value of a product is no longer determined by its raw materials.

“The economic value of a product is no longer determined by its raw materials or production system, but it depends on the use of creativity and innovation through the technological developments” he said.

In front of the participants of the roundtable discussion, he suggested that the price and product quality factors are not always reliable in the competitive market.

“In general, the industry can no longer compete in the global market by relying only on price or product quality, but on innovation, creativity and imagination,” he said in his argument.

The current economy, he expressed, is greatly influenced by globalization. The products of globalization, among others, include intellectual property rights, as the capitalization of human intellectuals.

Those with a unique idea, he added, will be able to protect their ideas and prevent others from using it.

On the occasion, he also revealed the development of creative industries in Indonesia that contribute significantly to the national economic growth.

It is said that the creative industries allow the creation of new jobs for the people.

By stimulating the creative industries in Indonesia, local manufacturing industries will be able to reduce their dependence on licenses paid for foreign products.

The creative economy is expected to be able to overcome the employment issues, and furthermore, it should also be able to push the nation's economic growth.

Acting as resource persons at this event are the Director General for Arts and Culture-based Creative Economy from the Ministry of Tourism and Creative Economy Ukus Kuswara, the Director General for Worker Development and Placement from the Ministry of Manpower and Transmigration Reyna Usman, Prof. Togar M. Simatupang, Ph.D., and Aviliani, S.E., M.Sc.

The Lemhannas officials attended the discussion included the Deputy Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., the Secretary of Governing Board Dr. Ardi Partadinata, MH, M.Si., and the Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc.

The Deputy for Strategic Studies Inspector General (Police) Herry Haryanto, expert lecturers, expert analysts and expert professionals as well as structural officials of Lemhannas RI also attended the event.

Economic Development in Border Regions to be Prioritized

The concept of economic development of border regions requires high priority level and specific, clear and firm legal supports, said the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A.

He conveyed the statement during a national seminar themed "Developing Economic Development of Indonesian Border Regions" at the Borobudur Hotel in Jakarta, Thursday (31/5).

According to him, the accelerated socio-economic development in border regions, needs to be carried out in all areas. "The efforts to accelerate socio-economic development in border areas must be carried out in all areas, including in public services and infrastructure", he said.

Concerning the priorities, Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji, who is keen on building communication through mass media, said that the development needs to be carried out in the provision of the needed basic infrastructure as well as defense and security facilities and infrastructure.

In line with that view, he stressed on the importance of establishing and enhancing the role of community institutions that promote the creation of strong familial relationship, feeling of togetherness and spirit of nationalism.

Opening job opportunities is also deemed as a priority, whether in the field of agriculture, trade and fishing. In building the economic centers in the border regions, he expressed, we need to take into account the local cultural characteristics, resources and economy.

In order to optimize such efforts, he deemed it necessary to develop cooperation with neighboring countries in accordance with the prevailing regulations.

When presenting his paper on "Strengthening the Economy of Indonesian Border Regions in the Context of National Resilience", Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji focused on land areas that directly border with neighboring countries.

At the seminar, he stressed on the importance of understanding national resilience in a comprehensive manner.

The national resilience, he continued, is the ability of national life system in maintaining its survival. It also means the ability to develop the national life in the face of strategic environment's dynamics.

Integrating Interests

The development of border regions is not a stand-alone program. Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji asserted that it is actually an integral part of national development, requiring integration of various interests.

"The interests of security and people's welfare need to be integrated while promoting the principle of balance between the mental/spiritual and physical/material aspects, intergroup and interregions relations", he further explained.

Furthermore, the top leader of Lemhannas RI also brought up other unresolved issues, such as border dispute negotiations, lack of infrastructure and uneven distribution of population. In addition, the slow pace of development, unoptimal implementation of the grand design of border region development, and the national strategic spatial plan which has yet to be applied in the strategic spatial plan of the border regions.

Hope was born in that seminar that the economic strengthening of the region will be based on the Public Works Ministry plans to develop the Integrated Autonomous City in the border regions in an integrated development concept. It is deemed to improve the quality of life.

It was also said that the efforts to strengthen the economy of the border regions would lead to the regions having autonomous resilience, which in turn will contribute significantly to the development of national resilience.

The seminar held in cooperation between Telstra IKAL and Bank Indonesia featured the Deputy Governor of Bank Indonesia Ronald Waas and contributor from the IKAL Chairman Gen. (Ret.) Agum Gumelar, M.Sc.

It was also attended by Admiral (Ret.) TH. Soesetyo of the National Border Management Board (BNPP), representative from the Ministry of Home Affairs, and a lecturer from the University of Indonesia Faisal Basri, S.E., M.A.

Governor of Lemhannas RI: Korpri's New Paradigm, Improved Competence

The Governor of the National Resilience Institute of Republic Indonesia (Lemhannas RI) Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. said that improved competence should be a new paradigm for the Indonesian Civil Servants Corps (Korpri).

"The Korpri's new paradigm today is to improve competence in realizing a high level of professionalism", he said.

He made the statement during the opening of a Korpri consultation meeting at the auditorium of Lemhannas RI on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan in Central Jakarta, Wednesday (6/6).

On that occasion, Prof. Budi Susilo Soepandji also noted the importance of consistency and professionalism in the implementation of policy and public service.

"Consistency and professionalism in the implementation of public policy, public services -- which also serve as the unifying elements of the country -- will provide both opportunities and challenges to all members of Korpri to move forward", he said.

Motivating the Korpri members of Lemhannas RI, the governor as the Korpri patron of Lemhannas RI, stressed the importance of the so-called servants of the state to improve their competence and performance, both in the organizational and human resources aspects.

Improved competence, said the Lemhannas top leader, is related with clean, transparent, effective and accountable governance, which is in accordance with the paradigm of good governance.

He expected that the consultation meeting participants would come up with significant work programs which can reach its members, improve their welfare and meet their needs which have long been neglected.

He explicitly addressed the still neglected needs, such as improvement in human resources and welfare of the Korpri members.

He also hoped that the consultation meeting would improve the integrity and bureaucratic ethics, in bringing Lemhannas RI to become a world-class institution.

The consultation meeting was attended, among others, by the Deputy Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., the Secretary of Governing Board Dr. Ardi Partadinata, MH, M.Si., the Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc., the 3rd Chairman of the National Korpri Executive Board Dr. Ir. Iskandar Andi Nuhung, MS, the Deputies, the Structural and Functional Officials of Lemhannas RI.

In the consultation meeting, Drg. Sri Wahyuni Pudjiastuti was elected as the Chairman of Lemhannas RI's Korpri Executive Board for 2012 – 2017 period.

Lemhannas RI and CDSS Australia Discusses Maritime Security Issues

The National Resilience Institute (Lemhannas RI) and the Australian Center for Defence and Strategic Studies (CDSS) discussed maritime security issues in the Trigatra Building of Lemhannas on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan in Central Jakarta, Monday (5/6).

The discussion concerning the maritime security was aimed at broadening the CDSS participants' point of view on social, economic, political and security issues in the same region.

In the courtesy call, the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. was accompanied by Deputy Governor Lt. Gen. Moeldoko, S.I.P., the Principal Secretary and Expert Lecturer in International Relations Brig. Gen. Avianto Saptono. Meanwhile the Australia's CDSS was led by Colonel Colin Richardson.

Regarding the maritime security issue, it was revealed that Indonesia's understanding on the matter is based on the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS), while Singapore and other Asian countries base it on the definition provided by International Maritime Bureau (IMB).

While appreciating the naval cooperation between the two countries, it was conveyed that the maritime security issue for Indonesia is not only related to the navy, but it also concerns with sea transportation, fishing and marine agribusiness.

The discussion moderated by the Expert Lecturer in International Relations Brig. Gen. Avianto Saptono also addressed the issue of human trafficking and intelligence sharing.

Regarding the maritime cooperation, Indonesia last month signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with China, covering the area of intelligence sharing.

The discussion was also attended by the Expert Analyst in the Field of Geography Maj. Gen. Endang Chaeruddin, Professional Expert in Diplomacy Rear Admiral (Ret.) Robert Mangindaan, Head of Public Relations Bureau Brig. Gen. Sahat Aritonang, Head of Cooperation Bureau Brig. Gen. Danu Nawawi, six representatives of the 47th Regular Educational Course Program participants, one of whom is a foreign participant from Singapore.

Meanwhile, there were also foreign participants from New Zealand, China, Japan, Pakistan and the Philippines among the group members of CDSS. Hopefully, the partnership of both institutions will improve the relations and cooperation between Indonesia and Australia.

Lemhannas RI Forges Cooperation with Daily Newspaper Sinar Harapan

Lemhannas RI and the daily newspapers Sinar Harapan forge a cooperation in improving writing skills using a popular and communicative style.

The need for such cooperation was discussed when the Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. received in audience the daily newspaper Sinar Harapan's General Manager of Business Development, Rusdanie, at the governor's guest-room on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan, Central Jakarta.

At the meeting, Thursday (31/5), the governor explained the history, profile and activities carried out in Lemhannas RI, indicating the role of played by the institution in the life of the nation.

In his response to the governor's elaboration, the General Manager of Sinar Harapan's Business Development said that as a state institution, Lemhannas RI plays a major and strategic role in maintaining the integrity of the Unitary State of the Republic of Indonesia.

With that role, he added, Resilience thinking it should be delivered to the public through the popular style of writing and communicative.

The need for Lemhannas RI to have a rubric "Bingkai NKRI" (Framework of the Unitary State of Indonesia) in Sinar Harapan online version -- to be developed by Sinar Harapan -- was suggested during the audience by Rusdanie. On this occasion, the governor invited Sinar Harapan's journalists to attend courses in Lemhannas RI.

It is planned that Lemhannas RI will organize a course for mass media people.

It is hoped that the cooperation to be developed between Lemhannas RI and the daily newspaper Sinar Harapan will serve as a model for the former to work with other mass media.

This cooperation will be followed up by the Bureau of Cooperation under the Office of Principal Secretary of Lemhannas RI and be formalised in a memorandum of understanding.
