The socialization event was directed to top officials staff members of all work units.

According to the Principal Secretary of Lemhannas RI Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc., the socialization is the first step for Lemhannas in implementing the law on the transparency of public information.

“This socialization is the first step for Lemhannas RI to further implement the Law No. 14

The law is aimed at establishing good and responsible governance.

He added that the law is a legal basis which accommodates the right of everyone to obtain information.

Agriculture Suffers from Systematic Exhaustion

The Focus Group Discussion (FGD) conducted by Lemhannas RI on Tuesday (7/8) revealed that the capacity of agricultural productivity in Indonesia has suffered from systematic exhaustion.

Things that are known to be the triggers of the agricultural systematic exhaustion, among others, include the pattern of cultivation, the growing environment and the production scale inefficiency.

"Apart from the fact that it has been like that since the very beginning, there is also systematic exhaustion due to the cultivation pattern, the growing environment and inefficiency in agricultural production scale", said Deputy for Strategic Studies of Lemhannas RI Inspector General of Police Drs. Herry Haryanto.

It is mentioned that farmers, as the main actors, have limitations in managing and modifying biophysical and socio-economic environment of the production system.

It was also revealed at the discussion forum that the farmers have difficulty in influencing policy environment, let alone changing the macro-economic foundation. Macroeconomics is the foundation that determines the level of prosperity.

The discussion held in the Nusantara II room of Trigatra building discussed agricultural productivity as it is closely related with national resilience.

The Forum Group Discussion was themed Improving the Agricultural Productivity in Order to Achieve Food Security in the context of National Resilience.

National resilience, said the Inspector General of Police Herry Heryanto, is determined by the readiness and ability of a nation to manage its integrity of asset, access and state position in maintaining the national interests.

Food Issues

In line with theme, the forum discussed the food issue in this country. Such issues require studies to improve the agricultural productivity.

According to data from the Food Security Agency, this year's demand for rice consumption shows a sharp rise.

It was revealed that the increase in rice consumption is influenced by food consumption pattern where the carbohydrate food consumption is increasingly dominated by rice. This is also caused by the rapid increase in the number of Indonesian population.

In 1954, rice accounted for only 53.5% of food consumption, with the remainder being cassava (22.26%), corn (18.9%) and potato (4.99%).

The development in 2010 showed that the consumption of food other than rice almost disappeared. However, the consumption of wheat rose to 17 kgs per capita. It was a 500% increase from the period of 1980 to 2010.

While on the other hand, the number of Indonesian population in 1940, 1980 and 2010, respectively, was 75 million, 147.5 million and 237.6 million.

The speakers at the discussion were Head of Food Availability and Insecurity of the Food Security Agency of the Ministry of Agriculture Dr. Ir. Tjuk Eko Hari Basuki, MST.

The other speakers were an economist from the Institute for Development of Economics and Finance (INDEF) Prof. Dr. Ir. Bustanul Arifin, M.Sc. and Professional Expert in Natural Resources of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Dadan Umar Daihani, D.E.A.

Governor of Lemhannas RI: Hold Fast to Korpri Paradigm

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. expected that the new management of Lemhannas RI's Corps of Civil Servants of the Republic of Indonesia (Korpri) that was installed on Tuesday (14/8) to hold fast to the Korpri paradigm.

The Korpri paradigm intended by the governor is professional, neutral and prosperous civil servants. On that occasion, the governor emphasized the importance of being professional and neutral.

"Being professional means that civil servants must understand their respective tasks and continue to improve their knowledge and ability in order to solve difficult problems," he said.

In terms of neutrality, he emphasized that employees should not be involved in practical politics. "Being neutral means that the civil servants should not throw themselves into practical politics; they should observe monoloyalty towards the government, the nation and the state", added the governor as the patron of the management board of Lemhannas RI's Korpri.

As an umbrella organization that coordinates all civil servants of the Republic of Indonesia, Korpri aims at enhancing the devotion and loyalty of all civil servants of the Republic of Indonesia towards the ideals of the struggle of the nation and the state based on the Pancasila and the 1945 Constitution.

Concerning the professionalism and performance of duties of civil servants, the Vice Chairman of the National Korpri Management Board Drs. Eko Sutrisno, M.Si., on the occasion, delivered a speech on the capability and integrity improvement.

In his opinion, the improvement in capability and integrity is not negotiable as it is closely related with performance.

Korpri, he further said, has contributed to restoring the major role of the bureaucracy as the main component in running the government, which promotes competence, professionalism and integrity of the apparatus.

Since its establishment on 29 November 1971, Korpri has gone through ups and downs and experienced organizational dynamics. Holding fast to democratic values in organizational life, all employees of the Republic of Indonesia remain united in Korpri and devote their dedication and services in carrying out government duties.

The event held at the Nusantara Room, Tri Gatra Building of Lemhannas RI on Jl. Medan Merdeka Selatan, Central Jakarta was attended by Secretary of the Governing Board Dr. Ardi Partadinata, M.H., M.Si., Principal Secretary Drs. Chandra Manan Mangan, M.Sc. Echelon I and II officials, chairman and board members of Lemhannas RI's Korpri as well as entire members of Korpri were also in attendance.
