ORIENTATION COURSE OF VICE PRESIDENT TO PARTICIPANTS OF PPRA XLIV LEMHANNAS RI

Vice President, Prof. DR. Boediono, gives orientation course to participants of PPRA XLIV of Lemhannas RI.

On August 19, 2010, 100 participants of Regular Education Program (PPRA) of Batch XLIV of Lemhannas of the Republic of Indonesia visited the Vice Presidential Palace in the framework of receiving orientation course from the Vice President. The session was attended by the Governor of Lemhannas RI, Prof. Dr. Muladi, S.H., Vice Governor, Air Marshal Dr. Rio Mendung Thalieb, M.Sc. Ph.D., Secretary of Governing Board, Major General (Ret.) Albert Inkiriwang, the First Secretary, Deputies, Teaching Experts, Research Experts, Professional Experts, Directors and Head of First Secretariat Bureau of Lemhannas of the Republic of Indonesia.

The Vice President, Prof. Dr. Boediono, accompanied by the Coordinating Minister for Political, Legal and Security Affairs, Chief Air Marshal (Ret.) Djoko Suyanto.

On the occasion, the Vice President gave an explanation on the determining factors of winning in war which is supported by two kind of powers, namely hardware and software. The United States of America was able to win the World War II because it was supported by economic power and war machine industry that is called hardware. "In other war, a certain country is supported by software power namely state social system, such as Vietnam.", said Boediono. Although it was beaten in technology, Vietnam with its solid social system was able to defeat the United States of America in Vietnam War.

On the occasion, the vice president expressed his message that hardware and software shall be taken into account and improved continuously to strengthen national security. According to the Vice President, national security of a nation is frequently encountering internal threats much bigger than the external ones. A culture is very likely to collapse due to internal threat. History has recorded some civilizations that already reached its peak but then it collapsed due to internal threat, for examples, ancient Roman or Egyptian civilizations. All were collapse due to internal disturbance.

POLICY ON ILLEGAL IMMIGRANT HANDLING

The Directorate of Research for International Relationship organized a Roundtable Discussion with the theme “Policy on Illegal Immigrant Handling to Maintain Authority and Responsibility of Indonesia amidst International Legal Demand in the Framework of Strengthening National Stability” on August 12, 2010 in Meeting Room of Nusantara I, Trigatra Building of Lemhannas RI.

In the Black’s Law Dictionary, it is explained that illegal immigration is relocation of one trespassing area border of a certain country of which the relocation has violated immigration law of the country of destination. Data shows that approximately 192 million people live beyond their home country, or 3% out of all world population with growth of 2.9%. It means that there is one immigrant in every 35 people. It grows so rapidly. Advanced country, such as the United States of America, and developing countries, including Indonesia, encounter serious problem, because the illegal immigrants do not enter a certain country only for economic reason and trying to find livelihood there but there are other interests.

There are some global trends affecting migration and its arrangement, namely demographic trend, economic gap between developing countries and advanced countries, liberation of trade requiring immigrant workers, communication network connecting the entire world hemisphere, as well as trans-national migration. High demand of workers in advanced countries and availability of workers in weak economic countries have created global immigrant workers flow. Immigrant network as formed per area has created large power in facilitating person mobility; they influence political decision from the host country to provide economic aid to their country of origin. The immigrants also influence economy and trade relations between host country and their country of origin and require more creative and productive integration process. Impact of this phenomenon is acceptance of dual nationality, ownership of dual property, as well as voting. Countries have recently realized that membership is no longer based on territory. A new form of relation between person and country which is firmly rooted rapidly in international political world, it seemed that it will influence the future of humankind movement.

Indonesia is actually encountering illegal immigrant issue for a long time, they come into Indonesia not to reside but for transit to the other countries (usually Australia). The strong reason they come through Indonesia is that Indonesian position is very strategic and directly bordering to Australia. This condition was taken advantage by smugglers to obtain profit from the illegal immigrants, namely by assisting in transporting them by boat to Australia from some coasts in Indonesia.

Wide extent of Indonesian territory and limitation of safeguarding capacity either in land, sea, air as well as weak technology have made Indonesia susceptible to this issue. If this condition is not immediately handled, it will become modus to enter Indonesia illegally to disturb security, such as terrorism or drugs smuggling. It is necessary to create more comprehensive and effective system in handling the illegal immigrant issue engaging cooperation of any relevant agencies, on the other side, Indonesia is focusing on welfare improvement, decrease of poverty, as well as creation of new employment opportunity (pro-poor, pro-job, pro-growth), therefore, it is necessary to establish strategy and methodology of illegal immigrant handling smartly and wisely in the framework of maintaining good reputation of Indonesia in international interaction.

REVITALIZATION OF NATIONAL STRATEGIC INDUSTRY

On August 26, 2010 in the meeting room of Astagatra Building, Floor III West, Lemhannas RI, a Roundtable Discussion (RTD) was held with the theme of "Revitalization of National Strategic Industry to Improve Capability of Tasks implementation in the Area of Defense and Security Sector in the Framework of National Defense". Attended by the Governor of Lemhannas RI, the Minister of Defense of the Republic of Indonesia, representative of the Minister of Finance, representative of Chairperson of Commission I of DPR RI, representative of the National Police Chief, representative of Chief Commander of the Indonesian National Armed Forces, President Director of PT Dirgantara Indonesia, and others.

National strategic industry in the area of defense and security constitutes industry which is very important for survival of social, national and state life. In advanced countries, strategic industry of defense and security is not only designated for fulfillment of defense system primary tools for their military need but also becoming its national economic facility. The said condition can be materialized due to support of political decision, funding source, Human Resources Capability, and reliable production quality.

Situation of Roundtable Discussion held by the Directorate General of Defense and Security of Deputy of Research of Lemhannas RI.

Prof. DR. Muladi, S.H., read out Keynote Speech when opening Roundtable Discussion on Defense and Security (RTD Hankam).

Indonesia has currently strategic industry in the area of defense and security, among others, PT PAL, PT PINDAD, PT Dirgantara Indonesia (DI), PT Dahana, and others. The national strategic industry condition to improve capability of tasks implementation in the area of defense and security of state is acknowledged to be inadequate. The condition is caused by various complex problems encountered by board of management, among others: first, it is necessary to gain support in the form of consistent political decision at the state level to improve national strategic industry; second, non-realization of commitment of end user (the National Armed Forces and the National Police) to use the strategic industry products materialized in a certain agreement/Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) either in short term or long term; third, non-intensiveness of national banking engagement to support funding through long-term loan scheme.

Strategic industry quality improvement constitutes investment which is not only to protect the state of Indonesia, but also to secure all natural sources which is very useful for improvement of people's welfare, in addition to participate in creating world peace. To that end, it is necessary to establish commitment of the government to encourage the strategic industrial growth, not only to policy level, but should be implemented by the relevant ministry or agency.

Improving capability and capacity of national strategic industry in the area of defense and security will expectedly materialize first, independency and sovereignty of national weaponry system, second, decrease of dependency as well as difficulty in financing of primary defense weapon system (alutsista) procurement from other countries; third, superior human resources, capacity and capability of creation, fourth, advanced defense industry capacity and competitive globally.

Report of Director of Research for Defense and Security to the Governor of Lemhannas before the Roundtable Discussion is officially opened.

Taking into account improvement of quality and quantity of national strategic industry in defense and security sector is a demand in this globalization era, then in this keynote speech, the Governor of Lemhannas RI stated that high commitment from stakeholders is necessary either from executive, legislative, National Armed Forces/ National Police, management or national banking circles, not only in fulfillment of primary defense weapon system to improve capability of task implementation in the area of defense and security of state, but also it would become national economic growth facility.

First, the culture grows based on noble values of Pancasila;

Second, decrease of tension and threat of conflict among society's groups.

Third, Strengthening of unity of state

Fourth, Development of application of new values which are positive and productive in the framework of stabilizing national culture as materialized in every aspect of development policy; and Advancement or deterioration of economy of a certain state will mostly be determined by existence and role of group of business-person. The success in increasing growth and empowerment of entrepreneurship is not separating from participation of social own strength, society's participation has become important factor in building competitive entrepreneurship.

Based on data of the Central Bureau of Statistics (BPS) on March 2010, poverty level of Indonesian people attained 211,726 per capita per month. become dependable in the effort of improving national economy or accelerating decrease of poverty level, since the national economy will not develop without support from increase of people's economy.

One of the efforts as taken to empower people is through increase of role of entrepreneur. Through the role, potentials of natural or artificial resources and territorial capacity can be mapped, as well as can be developed to accelerate the decrease of poverty level as well as strengthen national stability.

Three clusters as launched by the government to eradicate poverty is: Cluster 1 The Family Hope Program (PKH) as substitute for cash grant (BLT), and Public Health Insurance Scheme (Jamkesmas) and scholarship for children from the poor family, Cluster II Social Empowerment covering independent social empowerment national program (PNPM), Cluster III Empowerment for micro and small scale business with credit scheme for people's business (KUR) as superior program.

Nowadays the world is in globalization era, the era leading every country therein to enter into keener and intensive competition.
