“We still have some problems to resolve regarding disciplinary actions,” expressed Chief of General Affairs Bureau Police Brigadier General Drs. Budi Setiyadi, SH, M.Si. during a Training Event on Disciplinary Sanctions for Civil Servants held at Gadjah Mada Auditorium, Panca Gatra Building, 3rd Floor, Lemhannas RI on Tuesday (30/6).

The event moderated by the Head of Personnel Affairs Division of Lemhannas RI Colonel ADM Drs. Nana Sujana, M.Sc. was aimed at establishing the same perception of the disciplinary rules, particularly in Lemhannas RI.

Mid-level Lecturer of the State Civil Service Agency (BKN)'s Education and Training Center Harun Arsyad, who served as a resource person at the event, stated that the Government Regulation No. 30 of 1980 on the Disciplinary Actions for Civil Servants was no longer relevant as it had failed to create positive work ethics among civil servants. Hence, the Government Regulation No. 53 of 2010 on Civil Servant Disciplines is then put into effect.

In accordance with the Regulation No. 53 of 2010, any civil servants committing a disciplinary violation of civil servant regulations will be punished according to the severity of the offense. There are a few stages in the handling of such penalties, starting from alleged violation case, first summon, second summon, investigation, to enforcement of penalties. During these stages, the civil servants who commit the disciplinary offenses can submit an objection or appeal.

Following the presentation by Harun Arsyad, the event, which was attended by Echelon III and IV officials of Lemhannas RI, was ended with a discussion and question-and-answer session.

Lemhannas RI Refines and Analyzes Strategic Issues on National Resilience Measurement Laboratory (Labkurtannas)

“Based on the 2014 spatial analysis, we found that four provinces still needed special attention due to their less robust conditions,” said Budi Susilo Soepandji during a Roundtable Discussion on the National Resilience Measurement Laboratory (Labkurtannas) themed “Refining and Analyzing Strategic Issues Based on Spatial and Functional Relationship” at Kresna Room, Asta Gatra Building, 4th Floor, on Tuesday (30/6).

The event led by Lemhannas RI Governor Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A. featured resource persons from the Central Statistics Agency (BPS), the State Intelligence Agency and the Ministry of Internal Affairs. In his remarks, the Governor stated that Indonesia’s development in recent years had seen a significant progress in human development, competitiveness quality and national resilience indexes. Nevertheless, some provinces still needed to be put on an alert list, especially in terms of ideological, social, cultural, and economic aspects.

The problems in economic and socio-cultural aspects in those provinces were acknowledged by BPS’ Deputy of Balance and Statistics Analysis Kecuk Suharyanto. According to him, the welfare issues in socio-cultural aspect, which were related to economic aspect, include poverty, economic inequality and access. “Looking ahead, these socio-cultural and ideological aspects must become our common concern in order to achieve enhanced national resilience,” said Kecuk.

Meanwhile, Officer-in-Charge for Director of the National Vigilance of the Directorate General of Politics and Public Administration from the Ministry of Internal Affairs affirmed that the issues in ideological aspect were associated with Pancasila and national character. “Currently, there are some indications of weakening national characters as the instilling and implementation of the values of Pancasila and the 1945 Constitution, Unity in Diversity principle and the Unitary State of the Republic of Indonesia have not become the main foundation in the life of the nation and state,” he said.

The State Intelligence Agency, which was represented by Director of Sumatra and Kalimantan Regions Dr. Thony Saut Situmorang, elaborated on the strategic issues related to the spatial and functional relationships of the national security aspect. “The strategic issues of global security still focus on the potential threats of terrorism and radicalism, and the increasingly escalating sectarian issues. Conflicts do not involve states only but also non-state actors, and this is the thing that we have to look out for,” said Thony.

The event was also attended by Lemhannas RI Deputy Governor Vice Admiral Dr. Didit Herdiawan, M.P.A., M.B.A. and faculty members.

“Special economic zones have begun to be established in order to accelerate the development in the coastal areas, such as the one that is going to be developed in Lombok, Mandalika,” explained Dwisuryo Indroyono. "Those programs are expected to enhance their awareness of environmental protection in the coastal areas and sea, and in other maritime aspects," affirmed Widodo.

Taufiequirachman Ruki, SH said that corruption, which had pervaded all aspects of life in Indonesia since the beginning of independence era in 1945, could undermine Indonesia's national resilience.

The corruption eradication in Indonesia is still perceived as non-optimal due to overlapping regulations and corrupt mindset of the ministries and agencies' officials that need to be immediately changed. Political will alone is not enough for corruption eradication, commitment is also needed.

"Considering the importance of national resilience, this has become a pressing matter, which is the responsibility of each national component through their respective core businesses," said Taufiequirachman when serving as a resource person at the discussion panel in front of the 53rd PPRA participants in NKRI Room, Panca Gatra Building, 3rd Floor, Lemhannas RI on Friday (3/7).

Army Chief of Staff Calls Attention to Real Threats Faced by Indonesia

“Based on the population principle theory, world conflict background and location shifting theories, the acceleration of the population rate, energy crisis and limited availability of food will shift the background and location of the world conflicts to the equator,” said Army Chief of Staff General Tri Gatot Nurmantyo when giving a briefing to the participants of the 53rd Regular Educational Course Program (PPRA LIII) and the 20th Short Educational Course Program (PPSA XX) in Gajah Mada Auditorium, Panca Gatra Building, 3rd Floor, Lemhannas RI on Monday (6/7).

In his presentation entitled “Being Alert in Facing the Real Threats to Indonesia”, Gatot Nurmantyo conveyed that in 2043 the number of world population would increase to 12.3 billion people, which was inversely correlated with the availability of food and water, thus driving the search for food and water energy sources toward the equator. Therefore, Indonesia should be aware of this scenario considering its location in the equatorial region.

Moreover, continued Billy Nurmantyo, proxy war would also pose a serious threat to Indonesia. “Proxy War is a war which is carried out through various aspects of the life of the nation and state,” he said.

In facing the proxy war, Indonesia needs to make the best use of its geographic capital by developing Indonesia into both an agricultural and maritime country, and reviving the spirit of mutual assistance that have proved to be an underlying factor for its power and triumph thus far.
