"It is hoped that the national flag-hoisting team will be able to be more optimal in contributing positively to the resolution of the nation's problems, which always puts the interests of the nation and state above personal or group interests," he explained.

The Implementation of the 2022 Jakarta Geopolitical Forum VI

Lemhannas RI held the 2022 Jakarta Geopolitical Forum (JGF) VI with the theme "Geo Maritime: Chasing the Future of Global Stability" for two days on Wednesday and Thursday (24-25/8/2022). This annual event is held offline for invited guests and broadcast online through Zoom and Lemhannas RI Youtube channel.

"The theme we raised this year was geo-maritime. With the awareness that the geopolitical battle ahead will be getting closer to us, because it will take place in the East Asia region and will use maritime, sea and ocean as a means of fighting," the Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto said when opening the event.

Andi Widjajanto assesses that geopolitics has now entered the era of Geopolitics V, which prioritizes connectivity, connectivity between countries in the world, global infrastructure development that combines countries and even continents, and the creation of a global supply chain. However, according to him, what is happening today is connectivity that has created global faults. The fault arose because of competition between major countries that declared technology and trade wars.

Highlighting this, through JGF VI, Lemhannas RI is trying to find a solution so that the faults do not get bigger and can be reconnected with each other. "So that the Geopolitics V era is again strengthened into one global connectivity, one global infrastructure, one global supply chain," Andi Widjajanto said. It must be realized that to become a maritime power, Indonesia needs long steps and strategic planning until at least 2070. Therefore, JGF VI discusses this comprehensively from all sides. "It is hoped that by holding the Jakarta Geopolitical Forum today, the contribution of Lemhannas RI, (after having dialogue with multi-sectors, can further strengthen our direction to obtain an ideal geopolitical capacity for Indonesia to project its regional strength in the future," Andi Widjajanto concluded.

There were 11 prominent speakers from five countries, including the United States, Russia, Australia, Singapore, and Indonesia who were invited to be Speakers at JGF VI. The the speakers mentioned are Dr. Collin Koh Swee Lean; Admiral (Ret.) Prof. Dr. Marsetio, S.I.P., M.M; Sam Roggeveen; Timothy R. Heath, Ph.D; Philips J. Vermonte, Ph.D; Dr. Alan Dupont; Dr. Alexander Korolev; Ryan Hass; Prof. Tirta Nugraha Mursitama, Ph.D; Prof. Dr. Ir. Dadan Umar Daihani, D.E.A; and R.M. Wibawanto Nugroho Widodo, Ph.D., M.A.(Brad), M.A., War College Dip.(NDU), M.P.P.(GMU), Ph.D.(Exon.)

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto was a speaker at the 2022 Cavalry Officers Corps Meeting and a National Webinar with the theme "Synergy to Build Professional Cavalry", on Friday (26/8/22) at cavalry weapons headquarters, Bandung, West Java.

Andi Widjajanto delivered a presentation entitled "War of the XXI Century and the Role of Cavalry Units". According to him, technological developments need to be considered whether there is a leap which is also known as the Revolution of Military Affairs (RMA), or not. If there is no technological leap or RMA then you can be more relaxed in planning for the future. However, if there is a significant technological leap, it is necessary to make adjustments immediately. Andi Widjajanto considered that the motto of the Cavalry, namely Tri Daya Cakti, was still very relevant to current conditions. If you look at the evolution of cavalry technology, the leap in tank technology is also unlikely to occur at least until 2030. According to him, now is the best time for cavalry weapons headquarters to study cavalry trends going forward. "It doesn't make it irrelevant, but it makes it more relevant," he explained.

Referring to the prediction of war in the XXI century, Andi Widjajanto concluded that the Revolution of Military Affairs (RMA) did not occur. According to him, basically the way of fighting in the early 2000s until the Ukraine war was still similar to the way of fighting in World War II. The war that occurred shows that the military technology revolution is still not seen significantly. However,

O'Hanlon predicts in 2030 that the military technology revolution will be more mature for war in 2060. "We still have time ahead of how we study the technology, but what is clear is the three forces of the cavalry unit, namely destructive power, propulsion, and the shock is still valid," Andi Widjajanto concluded

On the other hand, Andi Widjajanto sees one thing that is become our weakness until today is the rarity of mapping orders of battle. Related to this, Lemhannas RI at the request of the Indonesian Ministry of Defense is currently conducting a review meeting on the defense industry. In addition, Lemhannas RI will develop a new way to calculate the need for defense equipment in TNI by not focusing on titles, but focusing on orders of battle.

Strengthening of National Values Program for the Management and Members of Japnas

A number of Board and members of the National Entrepreneurs Network (Japnas) participated in the Strengthening of National Values at Lemhannas RI for seven days, starting on Monday (29/8/2022). The program, which was attended by 79 Boards and members of Japnas and consisted of 66 men and 13 women, was officially opened by the Deputy Governor of Lemhannas RI Lieut. Gen. Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah.

In the current strategic environment, almost the entire world is exposed to the threat of economic recession. This began with a decline in economic activity due to the Covid-19 pandemic, causing high inflation. In his speech, Mohamad Sabrar Fadhilah said that the commitment to keep Indonesia from falling into an economic recession needs to be a common concern, especially for national entrepreneurs.

The Chairman of Japnas Central Executive Bayu Priawan Djokosoetono attended the program said that participating in the Strengthening of National Values Program was one of Japnas' efforts to instill the spirit of nationalism and statesmanship. "Entrepreneurs should not only target the amount of capital that can be obtained, but also the spirit to build national welfare, build the national economy, and encourage this nation to regain economic glory," Bayu Priawan Djokosoetono said.

In a world full of uncertainty and the collapse of the economic order, Bayu Priawan Djokosoetono views that Japnas must respond properly and wisely so as not to trigger a prolonged economic crisis. Recognizing its important role in national economic development, Japnas should not remain silent as Indonesian economy is dragged into a recession. "We are ready to work hand in hand, cooperate, synergize with the government to encourage Indonesia to become one of the world's economic giants," he said.

Departing from this passion to serve, Japnas hopes that the Strengthening of National Values program at Lemhannas RI will form Japnas members as entrepreneurs who have a national spirit, a state spirit, and a spirit of service. "Hopefully, through the Strengthening of National Values program, Japnas members can grow into big entrepreneurs, well-established entrepreneurs with a spirit of statesmanship," Bayu Priawan Djokosoetono concluded.

According to him, the commissioners need to have national insight considering that their job is to monitor and evaluate compliance and policies of public bodies. "We want all commissioners to have national insight because they see the openness of information, they have to look at it from the perspective of the archipelago," Donny Yoesgiantoro continued. He also considered that information became the backbone of the public policy process starting from agenda setting, formulation, decision making, implementation, and evaluation. Therefore, Donny Yoesgiantoro considered it important for the commissioners to have national insight.

Responding to this, Andi Widjanto welcomed and directed that it could be followed up through the Deputy for Strengthening of National Values of Lemhannas RI. "Please follow up with the Deputy for Nationality," he said.

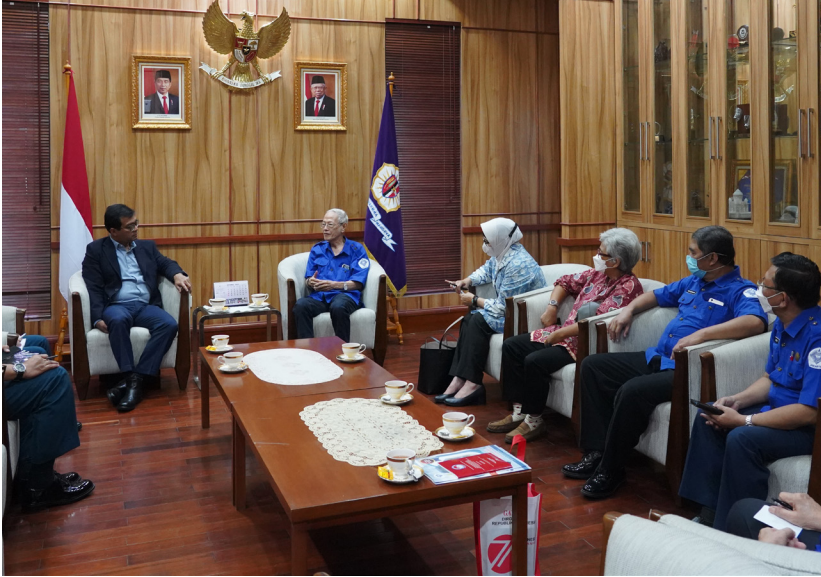

Also present to accompany the Governor of Lemhannas RI were the Deputy for Strengthening of National Values of Lemhannas RI Rear Admiral Edi Sucipto, S.E., M.M., M.Tr. Opsla. and Chief of the Legal and Cooperation Bureau of Lemhannas RI Commodore Deny Septiana, S.A.P., M.A.P.

Cikini College Foundation Audience

What Lemhannas RI can do for Yayasan Perguruan Cikini is to provide training for trainers for Yayasan Perguruan Cikini teaching staff. "But actually we at Lemhannas RI are strengthening national values by looking for organizations and places where the strengthening of national values is problematic. Yayasan Perguruan Cikini is not on our radar (because it is not problematic)," he continued.

Andi Widjanto views Yayasan Perguruan Cikini as a network of Lemhannas RI. Therefore, it is hoped that Yayasan Perguruan Cikini can cooperate with Lemhannas RI in strengthening nationalism. If Yayasan Perguruan Cikini enters our network to strengthen nationalism, it is part of us to strengthen weak areas. We don't think it's Yayasan Perguruan Cikini that we have to strengthen, that's what we expect from the network going forward," he said.

Also present to accompany the Governor of Lemhannas RI on the occasion, namely the Deputy for Strengthening of National Values of Lemhannas RI Rear Admiral Edi Sucipto, S.E., M.M., M.Tr. Opsla. and Chief of the Legal and Cooperation Bureau of Lemhannas RI Commodore Deny Septiana, S.A.P., M.A.P.

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjanto received an audience from the Yayasan Perguruan Cikini (Cikini College Foundation) which was led directly by the Chairman of the foundation Budiono Kartohadiprodjo, who was accompanied by the Secretary of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini Iwan Setiawan Nasir, the General Chairperson of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini Lilly S. Wasitova, Deputy I of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini Ocke Saleh, Director of Elementary and Secondary Education (Dikdasmen) of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini Susiyanto, Deputy Director of Education of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini Hari Poerwanto on Thursday (1/9/22) in Nusantara I Room, Trigatra Building Lemhannas RI.

On that occasion, Budiono Kartohadiprodjo said that the direction of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini's education achieved was the quality of its alumni in protecting, nurturing, and caring for the country. Yayasan Perguruan Cikini directs its students and alumni to love the country and emphasizes that the interests of the state are above personal and group interests. In line with that, the purpose of the hearing, Budiono Kartohadiprodjo said, was to get input from the Lemhannas RI regarding the curriculum and syllabus needed to instill a sense of love for the homeland.

Responding to this, Andi Widjanto welcomed the arrival and responded to the purpose of Yayasan Perguruan Cikini hearing to Lemhannas RI. "From our interaction with BPIP, on June 1 yesterday in Ende, BPIP has launched 15 modules for Early Childhood Education to Higher Education and will be implemented starting this academic year," he said.

The Governor of Lemhannas RI, Andi Widjajanto, gave a speech for the alumni of Lemhannas-Inter University Network (L-IUN) Program Batch V of 2022 on Thursday (1/9/22) at Nusantara I Room, Trigatra Building, Lemhannas RI. The attending graduates of L-IUN program consisted of eight alumni of master's program of national resilience, four alumni from University of Indonesia (UI), and four alumni from Gadjah Mada University (UGM).

Professional Expert for Natural Resources (SKA) and National Resilience (Tannas) of Lemhannas RI as the Management Head of L-IUN Prof. Dr. Ir. Dadan Umar Daihani, D.E.A., Head of National Resilience Studies of University of Indonesia Dr. Arthur Josias Simon Runturambi, M.Si., and Head of Cooperation and Legal Bureau of Lemhannas RI Commodore Deny Septiana, S.I.P., M.A.P. were present at the event.

Dadan Umar Daihani as the Management Head of L-IUN said that L-IUN was established in 2012. However, according to him, the Covid-19 pandemic became one of the obstacles to conduct the L-IUN program. To date, there are 74 alumni of L-IUN. It is expected that in the future, L-IUN program can be carried out again and embrace the broader public.

Responding to this, Andi Widjajanto hopes that L-IUN alumni will continue to maintain a good relationship among them. On the other hand, Andi Widjajanto considered that Lemhannas RI is slightly different from other educational institutions like UI and UGM. Lemhannas RI produces leaders that have strength in policy making, while UI and UGM concentrate on building a strong academic foundation. "In Lemhannas RI, we want to create leaders who have strength in making policies, policy recommendation oriented," he explained.

Andi Widjajanto congratulated the alumni because they had successfully completed their education to continue serving in their respective institutions. He also reminded that the alumni must maintain a good relationship with Lemhannas RI and if they want to establish an alumni association for L-IUN program, they can discuss it with the Head of Cooperation and Legal Bureau of Lemhannas RI.

Governor of Lemhannas RI: Addressing National Security Will Result in Strengthening the State

The Governor of Lemhannas RI Andi Widjajanto gave a lecture on “National Security Anatomy” to PPRA 64 Participants on Monday (12/9/22) at Bhinneka Tunggal Ika Classroom, 3rd Floor of Pancagatra Building, Lemhannas RI.

On that occasion, Andi Widjajanto said that the greater strengthening of the state will certainly result in worries and concern that the state will become a repressive state. Therefore, he stated, democracy and human rights principles will emerge. These principles must be implemented to control the state so that the state will not become repressive. “We are now in the era of democracy, our efforts to address national security will definitely result in strengthening the state, resulting in an increasingly great role of the state,” he said.

The principles of democracy and human rights consist of political authority, judicial authority, transparency, and accountability. Andi Widjajanto is of the opinion that whenever the state has to come up with a repressive state, it must prepare political communication so as to maintain the country’s democracy and human rights.

In addition, Andi Widjajanto also highlighted the shift in the concept of security from a state-centric concept to a human-oriented (anthropocentric) concept. Human security that is cross-domain consisting of politics, environment, economy, food, health, individual, and community. According to Andi Widjajanto, these conditions have provided solutions that need to be systemic and cover all elements of human life.

Regarding human security, Andi Widjajanto views that the demographic bonus is one of the challenges that must be faced. The dominance of the productive age population becomes the capital to accelerate national development. However, the demographic bonus needs the development of human quality to be able to answer all existing national challenges and needs.

Therefore, Andi Widjajanto emphasized the importance of alleviating stunting. According to him, the vital key to alleviating stunting is held by Z Generation and Y Generation as well as women who are one of the upstream in the security spectrum.
