Agus emphasized that education aims to equip individual competency and capacity building. If a person's individual competence is getting better, the higher is his civilization.

Individual competence and capacity are also a concern in Lemhannas RI's education. "We hope everything given to the participants can be accommodated in their products, namely public policy," Agus said.

Prevention is implemented by building a prevention system and building the capacity of the community to protect each individual from drug abuse and illicit drug trafficking. Then eradication, is done by strengthening cooperative relations both at the national and international levels to prevent the drug distribution from abroad.
