Lemhannas RI Governor Stresses on The Importance of Planning, Controlling and Evaluation of Work Program

On his speech during a flag-raising ceremony on the March 17th, 2005, Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, D.E.A emphasized on the importance of planning, controlling and evaluation of work programs by work units in Lemhannas RI in a careful manner by closely adhering to the procedure.

“Those things need to be carried out considering the highly dynamic national strategic environment as well as the huge expectation that the people place on Lemhannas roles and performance. On the other hand, nearing the second quarter of the 2015 budget year, which coincides with the celebration of the 50th golden anniversary of Lemhannas RI, we are faced with a lot of dynamic activities that require our earnest attention,” said Budi Susilo Soepandji.

Furthermore, he continued saying that based on the summary of the budget utilization report of Lemhannas RI as of 13 March 2015, the institution’s budget utilization had only reached 4.63% of the total indicative budget ceiling for Lemhannas RI for the year 2015, which of course needed further evaluation.

“We have to learn from our past experiences in previous years that the low budget utilization by the end of each quarter will later affect the budget utilization for the subsequent quarter. It is realized though that until today, Lemhannas RI is still waiting for the endorsement of Lemhannas RI’s work programs and budgets (RKAKL) concerning the revised 2015 state budget (APBN-P).

However, we have to do our best not to let this situation hinder us to carry out our programs and activities as scheduled in accordance with Lemhannas RI’s indicative budget ceiling. Therefore, all heads of work units in Lemhannas RI should make a careful evaluation to improve budget utilization in their respective work units,” said Budi Susilo Soepandji.

International Conference on Terrorism and Deradicalization

Governor of Lemhannas RI Prof. Dr. Ir. Budi Susilo Soepandji, DEA opened an International Conference on Terrorism and Deradicalization between Lemhannas RI and the French Embassy at Syailendra Room, 3rd Floor, Astagatra Building, Lemhannas RI, on Monday (13/4).

According to Budi Susilo Soepandji, terrorism issues, nowadays, had grabbed the world's attention. Therefore, in order to prevent and eradicate any acts of terrorism, Indonesia had to cooperate with other countries, either bilaterally or multilaterally. "Indonesia has a strong commitment to eradicating terrorism," he affirmed.

The conference moderated by Professional Expert in Natural Resources Prof. Dr. Ir. Dadan Umar Daihani, DEA, featured five resource persons, namely Former High Ranking Official of French Police Commissaire Divisionnaire from the Ministry of Interior Patrick Ballardur, Former Head of French Division Nationale Anti Terrorist Roger Marion, Subject Matter Specialist on Deradicalization over The World Roseline Davido, Senior Expert in Psychology from the University of Indonesia Prof. Dr. Sarlito Wirawan, Former Head of National Police's Anti Terror Squad Detachment 88 Police Inspector-General Drs. HM. Tito Karnavian, MA, Ph.D.

Patrick Ballardur put forth that the phenomenon of terrorism, either separatism, state terrorism or faith-related acts of terrorism, were extremely complicated issues. "I think it is very important for us to have special well-armed forces to confront those terrorists," expressed Patrick.

Meanwhile, according to Roger Marion, although acts of terrorism were committed by different kinds of groups, they all shared three similar distinctive characteristics, such as the violence was committed against special targets, the attacks were intended to pressure the governments and the attacks were intended to gain media attention.

Roseline Davido, who developed a projective test called Childhood Hand that Disturbs (ChaD), said that the ChaD test could be used to examine the underlying reasons or motives behind the acts of terrorism through images. "Each element of the CHaD addresses itself by a subject who hears what he wants to hear," Roseline explained.

She went on to say that the test demonstrated that some ex-terrorists had experienced an abusive family environment while growing up or they had experienced bullying from their environment.

Whereas Prof. Dr. Sarlito and his team planned to develop a deradicalization program, however, it was not intended to go as far as changing one's ideology. Meanwhile, Police Inspector-General Drs. HM. Tito Karnavian, MA, Ph.D elaborated on the four requirements to fulfill in order to eradicate terrorism, namely intelligence (detection) capability, scientific investigation, measuring power and strong rule of law.

The conference, which was preceded by a courtesy call of the First Counselor of the French Embassy in Jakarta Stephane Baumgarth to the Governor of Lemhannas RI, was a follow-up to the previous cooperation initiative between Lemhannas RI and the French Embassy in Indonesia.
